FOREWORD

Some who read this genealogy will have studied the long history of the WALLEN/WALLING family over a period of many years. They are people who have struggled with still unanswered questions and who have experienced the lure of mysterious and hidden truths which float silently among the shadows of a long forgotten day. Other readers will be happy that so many descendants have cared enough to collect, preserve, and share the product of their conscientious efforts.

Those who have researched this family history are keenly aware of the various spellings of the surname. It began in America with "Wallen." Soon thereafter, the name "Walden" was entered into the records of Plymouth Colony; a little later came "Walling." A number of other spellings have also appeared. Evidently, there are numerous reasons, but no set rule, for the variations.

This publication is not intended to cover those segments of the Wallen story which have been told by others; rather, it is an endeavor to offer an addition which will answer a few more questions, so that other generations will be encouraged to continue the search. This generation has benefited from an era of improved communications and advanced technology, from better libraries, and larger numbers of people with an interest in genealogy.

In addition to many who have contributed family records, the Wilders owe an especial debt of gratitude to Edwin R. Deats, a professional genealogist, for his assistance in researching the New England branches of the family. Mr. Deats is a Wallen descendant, and his lineage is included in this book.

The Wilders also wish to acknolwedge their indebtedness and express their gratitude to Ora (Wallen) McGee. She unselfishly shared her large collection of family records acquired over a long period of time; and, it was she who provided the impetus needed to launch this project.

THE WALLENS OF PLYMOUTH COLONY

The MAYFLOWER which brought the first Pilgrims to the New World weighed anchor at Cape Cod on 11 November 1620. She had on board 102 passengers. The FORTUNE, arriving in 1621 brought 35 Pilgrims, the majority of whom were men. Ralph and Joyce Wallen came to America on board the ship ANNE, with 58 others. Their date of debarkation was 10 July 1623. Somewhere at sea, they had lost contact with their companion ship, the LITTLE JAMES, fourth and last of the Pilgrim ships; but a week or ten days afterwards, the LITTLE JAMES arrived at Plymouth. She was a very small ship with only a few passengers. Their names have been included with the others in a division of land which came later.[1]

A "Division of Cattle" was made in New Plymouth Colony 1 June 1627.[2] At that time, there were 156 of the more than 200 who had come during the period 11 November 1620 - 1 June 1627. These were the men, women, and children whose courage, hard work, and indomitable faith laid the foundation for a nation under God. Theirs is a story no American should ever forget.

Ralph and Joyce Wallen were assigned to the thirteen-member Company of Francis Eaton. In the "Division of Cattle," their group was given, "an heyfer of the last yeare called the white belyed heyfer & two shee goats."[3]

New Plymouth Colony stood quite alone in New England for thirteen years, i.e. from 1620-1633. Outside the little colony, a vast territory - rugged, untamed, and beautiful, belonged to the Indians.

Manuscript volumes of Court Orders for New Plymouth Colony were kept in the handwriting of Governors William Bradford and Edward Winslow; the secretaries of the Colony, Nathaniel Morton, Nathaniel Clarke, and Samuel Sprague. In 1633 the Freemen of Plymouth were listed, and the name of Ralph Wallen was on that list.[4] He was also on the Plymouth Colony Tax List for 1632/33. In 1633/34 the name "Widow Wallen" replaced the name of her deceased husband.[5]

The Wallens established their home in the New World during the ten years they had together before the death of Ralph. "The Widow Wallen" continued to live there until she sold her land on 7 September 1643.[6] She had lived in Plymouth for twenty years.

The Wallen name disappeared from Plymouth records after that date. Unfortunately, birth records for the Wallen children born at Plymouth (1623-1633) do not exist today. Nevertheless, there is strong evidence to support the belief that Ann who married John Smalley was one Wallen daughter. The record of her family follows.

In the will of Nicholas Snow, one of those who came to Plymouth on the ANNE in 1623, are given the names of his neighbors, in order to describe the location of the Snow home. Those neighbors mentioned were: Ralph Wallen, Thomas Clarke, Manasseh Kempton, Edward Bangs, and the Hopkins family.[7]

Samuel Fuller, Sr. filed his will 30 July 1633. In that document, he directed "that my daughter Mercy be & remaine to goodwife Wallen so long as she will keepe her at a reasonable charge."[8] Samuel Fuller, Sr. was a doctor. Joyce Wallen, no doubt, was a good mother to her own children; consequently, she could be trusted with the care of children not her own.

THE FAMILY OF ANN WALDEN

Ann Walden married John Smalley 29 November 1638 in New Plymouth Colony.[9] A few marriage records were scattered among the first two volumes of Plymouth Colony Court Orders, and the Smalley-Walden marriage record was among them. The first of those recorded was dated 1633; the last, 1646. Very little is known about Ann. At the time of her marriage, the "Widow Wallen" was the only adult in Plymouth with that surname, according to extant records. Ann was not listed among the children who were passengers on the Pilgrim ships; therefore, it is assumed she was born at Plymouth. Had she been born July-December, 1623, she would have been about fifteen years of age at the time of her marriage.

John Smalley was born in England and had come to Massachusetts in 1632 on the WILLIAM AND FRANCIS (of the Winthrop Fleet). It was a three-month voyage, the ship having sailed from London 9 March and having arrived 5 June.[10] Ann and John lived at Plymouth from 1638 until April, 1644. At that time, they sold the 40 acres of land they had acquired 1637/40 and moved to Eastham, "far down on Cape Cod." There John Smalley helped to organize the town.

Joyce Wallen sold her land at Plymouth on 7 September 1643.[11] It is assumed that she and, perhaps, her younger children moved to a new location; doubtless, near to an older daughter or son.

John and Ann (Walden) Smalley left Eastham about 1667. With their two sons, John, Jr. and Isaac, they moved to Little Compton, Rhode Island. Soon thereafter, they removed to Piscataway, New Jersey. They were among the earliest pioneers of that area later to become Middlesex County.[12]

The children of John and Ann were : Hannah, John, Isaac, and Mary. Hannah married John Bangs, son of Edward. Edward, born in England c1592, arrived at Plymouth in 1623 on the ship ANNE, as had Joyce and Ralph Wallen. He was a shipwright. The first vessel built in New Plymouth Colony was a forty or fifty-ton ship, and Edward Bangs had been in charge of its construction. He died at Eastham, Massachusetts in 1678.[13]

John Smalley, Jr. was born 4 September 1644. He married Lidia Marten.[14] A will of John Smalley was filed at Piscataway in 1731; although it is not known whether or not this was the will of John, son of John and Ann (Walden) Smalley.[15]

Isaac and Mary Smalley, twins, were baptized in Barnstable, 27 February 1648. Mary married John Snow, son of Nicholas who was also a passenger on the ship ANNE in 1623.[16] In a deed recorded in New Plymouth Colony, Nicholas Snow identified his neighbors: Ralph Wallen, the Hopkins family, Thomas Clarke, Manasseh Kempton, and Edward Bangs.[17] In his will dated 14 November 1676 Nicholas named his sons: Mark, Joseph, Stephen, John, and Jabez. Nicholas died 16 November 1676. In the will he also mentioned his wife, Constance (Hopkins); and he left a legacy to the Church of England. He bequeathed all his land in Truro to his son, John; however, "except for a short residence at Piscataway, New Jersey," where Mary's parents lived, John resided at Eastham, Massachusetts until his death.[18]

It is a reasonable assumption that Ann (Walden) Smalley died in Piscataway, Middlesex County, New Jersey, as had her husband, John Smalley.

4. Richard (Wallen, Walling), Providence, gave Oath of Allegiance to Charles II, June, 1667. Thomas once gave his name as "Walwin;" was in Providence, 1645. $_2$He was on the list of Freemen there in 1665. Thomas^2 was also in Providence when he took the Oath of Allegiance in May, 1682.
(James Savage, Compiler, GENEALOGICAL DICTIONARY OF NEW ENGLAND, Vol. IV, (1860) pp. 398-399.)

5. Rehoboth was a township in the Plymouth Colony. There were eight original towns: Swansea, Bristol, Freetown, Little Compton, Dartmouth, Taunton, Providence and Rehoboth. These included nearly half the original State of Rhode Island.

   In 1688 a Tithable List of Rehoboth carried the names of those who were 16 and over, living in Providence. Among those were: Thomas Wallin, James Wallin, and John Wallin.

NOTES

1. Maj. Lemuel Abijah Abbott in his book, DESCENDANTS OF GEORGE ABBOTT, et. al. (R. 3, supra), on page 696 presents a facsimile of the will of Daniel Abbott, brother-in-law of Thomas Walling I. Daniel married Margaret Walling 25 December 1678. She was the widow of Thomas Walling I whose first wife had been Mary, sister of Daniel Abbott.

Daniel's house was on Weybosset Street on the east side of the river, Providence, Rhode Island. His will was dated 28 November 1700. His son, Daniel, and widow, Margaret, were named executors. The bequests were as follows:

"To dau. Mary, one-third of the homestead in Providence - i.e., of house, cellar, lots, swamp, orchard, &c. - for 20 yrs. after the testator's dec. or during her life, if single, but if she should m. she was to be paid by bro. Daniel 20s. pr. yr. for 20 yrs. She was to have the use of the testator's bed-chamber, if necessary, but could neither sell, give or let her share of the est. to anyone but her brother; to wid. Margret, the other two-thirds as her share of the homestead during widowhood and what stock she wanted, but if she m. two-thirds of her share of the est. was to go to son Daniel, and the other third to dau. Mary; to son Daniel, the northerly part of a new farm, of abt. 183 acs. and five other pieces of land of 75 acs. in all, together with one whole right of commonage in the Providence Plantation to be "heriditory" forever conditionally (will mutilated here: conditions cut out). The balance or southern part of the first farm mentioned, about 175 acs., was given to son Daniel, to dispose of as he pleased, "either to (his) son, dau., sister or mother." Daniel was also allowed another lot of land of 70 acs., and a half right in certain commonage, to dispose of at will; but certain other commonage was to be kept for his son or dau, in case he had either or both, or otherwise for sister Mary if "overtaken by poverty." In case the legatee's gr.-child never m. and Daniel's wid. d., the estate was virtually to go to the church, excepting two lots 40 feet square from the homestead in front of the house, which were given to the testator's "cousins" THOMAS and JAMES WALLING, and their offspring, etc. In case son Daniel was dissatisfied with the will, he was virtually disinherited . . ."

2. On 28 July 1651 Thomas Walling I was received as a townsman; in 1655 his name was on the Freeman List. In 1657 he was a commissioner; and, on 25 January 1657 he sold a home share of land to Richard Pray. In 1660 Thomas was a Surveyor of Highways. On 19 February 1665 he had Lot 72 in a division of lands. Thomas Olney, Jr. complained that Thomas Walling was "debarring" him from going over certain land to Olney's meadow. Olney said he could not get home his hay by reason of Walling's blocking up the way.

The town appointed a committee to debate the matter with Walling. This was recorded 27 July 1670. (Austin, pp. 214-215)

3. For additional information, see "Thomas Walling I and His Family" which follows the Family Group of Thomas II.

4. John, son of Thomas and Margaret (Colwell) Walling, was taxed 1s. 10d. on 1 September 1687. His ratable estate was two cows, heifer, steer, 3 acres enclosed land, 1/2 acre tillable land, 1/3 share of meadow. (Austin, op. cit, p. 215.)

   On 24 November 1694, the administration of his estate to elder brother Thomas Walling II. Inventory: £41, 11s., viz., mare bridle, saddle, 2 cows, 2 two-years, 3 yearlings, 3 calves, hay, rye, Indian corn, tobacco, pewter, working tools, etc. (Ibid.)

   On 7 January 1718, Thomas II brought in an account, as administrator of Brother John, showing that he had paid his brother James £13, 16. as legacy and that he had remaining £9, 8s. 10d., whereupon it was voted that Thomas keep it as his part. (Ibid.)

5. The final settlement of John's estate could not be made until the death of his mother, Margaret, because he had an interest in the family farm on which she lived. (Ibid.)

3. From the following facts, it may be assumed that Thomas II and Sarah (Elwell) Walling were living near her parents at Piles Grove, Salem County, New Jersey at least by 1706; perhaps as early as 1698 when the tract of land was purchased by Sarah's father. Thomas's brother, Gershom, was already living in Monmouth County, New Jersey in 1688.
   a. Thomas Elwell, father-in-law of Thomas Walling II, left a will dated 25 April 1706 by which he bequeathed to Thomas Walling 15 acres "where he now liveth on." Thomas Elwell resided in the Piles Grove Precinct, Salem County, New Jersey.

5. On 8 March 1750, Aaron Peterson and Elizabeth Walling gave bond for administration of the estate of Thomas Walling, Salem County, New Jersey. (NEW JERSEY ARCHIVES: Vol. 30, p. 511) When other Walling probate records were considered, it was reasonable to assume that this was Thomas Walling III, son of Thomas II and Sarah.

6. William Wallen and his wife, Mary Catharine, appeared in the records of Augusta County, Virginia in 1748. (Deed Book 2, p. 9: A deed from William and his wife to John States).

   Among the County Court Judgments of Augusta County, Virginia was the case of WEST vs WALLING. It was stated that "William Wallen had moved from Augusta to Carolina in 1751." (Lyman Chalkley, CHRONICLES OF THE SCOTCH-IRISH SETTLEMENT IN VIRGINIA, Vol. I, (1912, Rept. Baltimore: Genealogical Publishing Co., Inc., 1974), p. 306.

   In the Muster Roll of Company No. 6, Augusta County Militia, in 1742 there was the name of Wm. WILLING. The compilers of this book believe this to be William, son of Thomas II and Sarah Walling. (William A. Crozier, VIRGINIA COLONIAL MILITIA, (1905, Rept. Baltimore: Genealogical Publishing Co., Inc., 1973), p. 93.

7. James, son of Thomas II and Sarah Walling, is believed to have married Mary DeLashmutt, daughter of Pierre De La chaumette. In later years, descendants of this line were sometimes referred to as "the DeLashmutt-Wallings." The origin of the DeLashmutt family in America is covered in the section, "Maryland Wallings."

8. Samuel Walling was listed among the children of Thomas II and Sarah by Austin. (John Osborne Austin, RHODE ISLAND GENEALOGICAL DICTIONARY (1887, Rept., Baltimore: Genealogical Publishing Co., Inc., 1982), p. 214. However, Samuel is not mentioned in the will of Thomas II, dated 19 May 1724. On the other hand, the will does mention Benjamin.

9. Date of Birth for Mary Blevins is given by Bill Dwayne Blevins in his book, BLEVINS ANCESTRY, (Mimeographed, 1973). A copy of this book may be found in the LDS Genealogical Library, Salt Lake City.

10. The wife of Thomas Elwell and the mother of Sarah (Elwell) Walling was SARAH BASSETT. She was the daughter of William Bassett who came to America in 1635 at the age of 9 years. He came with his step-father. They settled at Lynn, Massachusetts where William died 31 March 1703. His will was dated 10 February 1701; proved 22 May 1703. His children were: William, John, Elisha, Samuel, Elizabeth (Bassett) Richards, Sarah (Bassett) Elwell, Meriam Sandy, Mary Ruck, Rachel Silsbe, Rebecca Bassett, and Hannah Lille.

    It is assumed that Sarah (Elwell) Walling named her son Elisha for her Uncle Elisha Bassett. Members of the Bassett family also lived in the Piles Grove Precinct, Salem County, New Jersey. (Charles Henry Pope, PIONEERS OF MASSACHUSETTS, (Boston, 1900. Reprint, Baltimore: The Genealogical Publishing Co., Inc., 1981), p. 37.

THOMAS WALLING I AND HIS FAMILY

When Thomas Walling's name first appeared in the records of Providence, it was spelled "Walwin," and the year was 1645.[1] It is believed that he came from the Plymouth Colony where Joyce Wallen, widow of Ralph, had sold her land in September 1643.[2] Ann (Walden) Smalley and her family, also, left the Plymouth Colony and moved to Eastham, Massachusetts. The route of their migration was somewhat the same as that of Thomas, i.e., they moved from Massachusetts to Rhode Island and then to New Jersey.[3] Ships' lists and other early records of Plymouth lead to the conclusion that Ralph and Joyce Wallen were the parents of Ann Walden who married in Plymouth; Thomas who appeared in Providence in 1645; and, perhaps, other Wallens born in New Plymouth Colony 1623-1633.

Thomas married Mary Abbott in 1651, sometime between 22 January and 28 May of that year. On 22 January 1651 Roger Williams wrote a letter from Narragansett to the "town fathers" of Providence, regarding Mary Abbott and the man she might marry. Mr. Williams wrote that he had heard the young man was "laborious," but he also suggested that he (Thomas) needed to "forsake his former courses;" the townsmen should seek assurances and get a "certificate" to insure that "he is not engaged to other women."[4]

By today's standards, it was a strange letter. The intellectual Roger Williams is known to have had strange opinions, at times, even in his own day. However, most of his ideas were the product of a greater challenge to his alert and conscientious mind.

Mary Abbott's father died intestate in 1650, and the Court appointed administrators to settle the estate. They were instructed to "take the goods belonging to the children of Daniel Abbott, deceased, into your hands and take notice of the goats and also take care of them; see to the disposal of them and bring in a list into the town and record (it)."

One year later, 28 May 1651, another estate paper was filed. The court ordered that "Thomas Harris and Nicholas Power shall equally divide the goats and goods and what else that belongs to the orphans of Daniel Abbott, deceased, and possess Thomas Walling, husband of Mary Abbott, daughter of Daniel, with one-half of the goats and goods and the other half to Daniel, son of the deceased."[5] Therefore, it is proved that Mary and Thomas were married after the letter was written by Roger Williams (22 January 1651) and before the final estate settlement (28 May 1651).

Mary's mother, Mary Abbott, died c1643. Very little is known about her. Some family historians believe that her date of death was recorded several years afterwards. The notation was: died 1643 "or thereabouts."

The children of Thomas Walling I and Mary Abbott listed by Austin were: Thomas, Gershom, Abigail and James.[6] Because Mary died in 1669, all these children were born 1651-1669.

In 1719 Thomas Walling II deeded to his son, Thomas III of Cohansey, Salem County, New Jersey, certain real estate which he (Thomas II) stated was "all given to me as eldest son and heir of Thomas Walling, deceased." However, when the will of Thomas I is read, a question arises: Could Gershom have been older than Thomas II? The will reads:

"To sons, Thomas, John, and William, farm which I now dwell upon, equally, as each arrives at age . . . The farm not to be sold except among brethren; that is to say, Thomas, John, James, William, and Cornelius. To son James, land at age. To son Cornelius, land on west side of Seven Mile Line. If there be more divisions of land than one, of land west of Seven Mile Line; then my right in second division to son Gershom and to him 10s." [7]

According to a court record, Gershom had been apprenticed to Nathaniel Mowry on 27 January 1667.[8] If Gershom were twelve years old in that year, his date of birth would have been 1655. He was probably no younger than twelve at the time his apprenticeship began. When Thomas I died in 1675, Gershom would have been 20 years old. His father may have given him, previously, his inheritance. Gershom would have been about nineteen years old when Thomas I filed his will in 1674. He would have learned from Nathaniel Mowry how to earn a living. Thomas I may have considered his son to be independent. Therefore, Thomas II would have thought himself to be the eldest son among the brothers at home when their father died.

Another possibility which merits some consideration is that there may have been another child (or children) who died in infancy before Thomas I wrote his will. This would account for the spacing of dates of birth between and among the children living in 1674.

Gershom Walling is credited by Dr. Stillwell with being the founder of the Monmouth County, New Jersey Walling families. It is not known when Gershom left Providence. The will of his father gives the impression that Gershom was still in Providence in 1674. The two extant tax lists of that town, 1687 and 1688, do not carry Gershom's name.[9] In 1688 he had received from the Proprietor of East Jersey land which was, no doubt, the 240 acres which he held in Middletown, Monmouth County, New Jersey in 1688. In that same year he recorded his earmark in Middletown and received payment from the estate of John Clark, Freehold, New Jersey.[10]

Thomas Walling II and Sarah Elwell were married at Providence, Providence County, Rhode Island on 10/20 May 1695.[11] The marriage record shows that Sarah was "of East Greenwich." East Greenwich was in Kent County, Rhode Island, contiguous to Providence County. According to Van Name, Sarah was born in Gloucester, Essex County, Massachusetts.[12]

Thomas and Sarah were married about three months prior to her nineteenth birthday. It is assumed that the Thomas Wallings migrated into Salem County, New Jersey with some of the Elwells. In 1698 Thomas Elwell, father of Sarah, purchased 110 acres of land in the Piles Grove Precinct, Salem County. The 110-acre tract was "part of the 1500-acre tract near the head of Salem Creek, bought of William Hall and wife," 29 April 1695. (NJA 21:623, note a.) From this document, it appears that Thomas Elwell purchased his first tract of land in Salem County very close to the date of Sarah's marriage. Evidently, the Elwells and Wallings lived on the 110-acre tract for several years; because, when Thomas Elwell wrote his will in 1706, he directed his executors to convey to his son-in-law, Thomas Walling, fifteen acres "where he now liveth on."[13]

According to Savage, James, John, and Thomas Walling gave their Oath of Allegiance to the King in May, 1682. Since Thomas I was deceased, it must have been Thomas II who signed the document. He had a brother John, born in 1670, but it is doubtful that he was the John who signed the Oath of Allegiance that year. If James were sixteen in 1682, then his date of birth would have been 1666. Richard Wallen/ Walling who was on the Freeman's List of 1655, as was Thomas I, may have been a brother of Thomas I. Richard gave Oath of Allegiance to Charles II, on 11 June 1667.[14]

James Walling, youngest son of Thomas I and Mary (Abbott) Walling, was probably born c1666 in Providence, Rhode Island. He lived in Providence and in Smithfield, Providence County, Rhode Island all his life. The name of his first wife is not known. She was probably the mother of all his children. They were: James, Cornelius, Daniel, William, Abigail, Mercy, Mary, Elizabeth, and a "daughter." James married, second, Elizabeth Nox 24 March 1751. He died 4 April 1753. Elizabeth died after 1752.[15]

James was taxed 6d. on 1 September 1687. He deeded to his son James for love &c. 75 acres 5 August 1721. On 28 November 1743 his son Daniel and wife Priscilla deeded to brother Cornelius of Glocester, 60 acres for £740.[16]

The will of James Walling, Smithfield, Rhode Island, was dated 7 March 1752. It was proved 13 April 1753. Executor, son-in-law William Sprague:

> To wife Elizabeth £250. and provisions in house and what estate she brought before I had her. To son William wearing apparel and gun. To grandson Hezekiah Herendon 20s. To daughter Abigail Blackmar's two eldest daughters 20s. each. To son-in-law William Sprague

15s. Rest equally to daughters' children and to my daughter Mercy Sprague, viz., daughter Mary's children (Hannah Phillips, Joseph Cook, Abigail Cutler, and Samuel Cook) a third part; to daughter Elizabeth's children (Elizabeth Tourtellot and Rebecca Williams) a third , and to daughter Mercy Sprague a third part.

Inventory: £839, 16s. 9d. viz., books, old linen wheel, linen and woolen yarn, gun, pewter, warming pans, bonds, 3 cows, 2 calves, &c.[17]

Elizabeth Walling, daughter of James Walling and granddaughter of Thomas I, married Roger Williams (II), son of Daniel and Rebecca (Power) Williams and grandson of Roger Williams (I). Elizabeth and Roger (II) were married in Providence 1 May 1729. Roger was born in 1680; died 30 January 1763. They had two children: Elizabeth was born c1731/34. She married Jonathan Tourtellot who was born 15 September 1738. Jonathan and Elizabeth lived in Glocester, Providence County, Rhode Island. Rebecca Williams, second daughter of Elizabeth (Walling) and Roger Williams (II), was born 20 April 1735. She married David Thayer. They lived in Mendon, Worcester County, Massachusetts, contiguous to Providence County, Rhode Island on the south.

From Austin's notes, it appears that Elizabeth (Walling) Williams was deceased by 1763 and Roger was afflicted severely with senility. He was unable to make a will. However, his only children, Elizabeth and Rebecca, were able to divide the assets of their father's estate without a problem.[18]

Abigail Walling, daughter of James, married James Blackmar in Smithfield, Providence County, Rhode Island 12 April 1732. He was the son of John Blackmar who was born 1698; died 26 January 1768. The mother of James Blackmar was Jemima (Kenny) Blackmar. She was born in Salem, Massachusetts; died in 1769. James and Abigail (Walling) Blackmar had a son, Ezekiel.[19] They also had at least two daughters (not mentioned by name) who were legatees in the will of their grandfather, James Walling.[20]

Margaret (White) Colwell, second wife of Thomas I, had been divorced by her first husband, Robert Colwell, in 1667. She and Thomas were married 19 June 1669, the same year that his wife, Mary (Abbott) had died. The sons of Thomas I and Margaret were: William, John, and Cornelius. After the death of Thomas, Margaret married, third, Daniel Abbott. He was the brother of Thomas Walling's first wife. Margaret's third marriage occurred on 25 December 1678.[21] Records show that she had a "turbulent spirit," according to an Abbott historian. In the midst of Daniel's rather impressive career as a public servant and about five years after his marriage, he felt "constrained to post her publicly."[22]

On 28 December 1717, Margaret complained to the Court that her late husband, Daniel Abbott, had left a "competent" estate and she needed relief. Her son Daniel, as administrator of his father's estate, was ordered to pay his mother 8s. per week into the hands of the Overseer of the Poor.[23] Evidently, Margaret's date of death was never recorded by the Abbotts.

Thomas Walling was one of those who "staid and went not away" during King Philip's War which began with an Indian attack on Swansea in Plymouth Colony near the Rhode Island border. The first massacre came on 18 June 1675, as the Colonists were returning home from a Fast Day service at their church. Other attacks followed swiftly: Dartmouth, Taunton, and Middleboro. The Indian who instigated the attacks was Metacomet, called King Philip. He was the second son of Massasoit, Chief of the Wampanoags and Leader of a League of Indians from Maine to Connecticut.

The settlers organized themselves to retaliate and bloody battles ensued. On 29 May 1676 the Indians burned Providence. Later, it was learned that about two-thirds of the men fled to safer territory, but twenty-seven "staid and went not away." Among these were THOMAS WALLING, Roger Williams, Daniel Abbott, James Olney, and William Hopkins.[24] One hundred years later, many descendants of Thomas were engaged in the American Revolution.

Thomas Walling I died in Providence in November, 1676. When he wrote his will 19 July 1674, none of his sons was of age.

The three sons of Thomas and Mary (Abbott) Walling became the progenitors of many generations of loyal Americans. For more than three centuries the sons and daughters of this family have lived honorably and proudly in the land their grandparents helped to develop and make secure.

Through the mists of a half-forgotten era, today's children look back to a time when long-ago grandparents made a path through the wilderness in search of a dream. A special benediction falls upon the hearts of those who search, back through three centuries. They are humbled by the knowledge of sacrifices made in the cause of freedom.

THE WALLINGS OF ORANGE COUNTY, NEW YORK AND SUSSEX COUNTY, NEW JERSEY

The family group sheets which follow comprise the lineages of persons who are descendants of Inman Walling, Orange County, New York or of Joseph and Mary Walling, Sussex County, New Jersey. Susannah Bills was the mother of Joseph Walling and was mentioned in his will. She may have been the mother of Inman Walling, also. Although her former place of residence is not known, there are clues which suggest that she may have been from Monmouth County, New Jersey.

Her granddaughter, Susannah (Walling) Wainwright, wife of Joseph, lived in Monmouth County c1790. Norton's NEW JERSEY IN 1793 lists:

WAINWRIGHT, Joseph	Shrewsbury Twp.	Monmouth Co.
BILLS, Richard	Shrewsbury Twp.	Monmouth Co.
BILLS, William	Shrewsbury Twp.	Monmouth Co.
BILLS, Sylvanus	Freehold Twp.	Monmouth Co.
BILLS, Sylvester	Nottingham Twp.	Burlington Co.

There were no Bills in any other county of New Jersey in 1793. Of course, the second husband of Susannah probably was not living in 1793. His first name is unknown. Susannah, herself, was not mentioned in the will of Mary Walling, her daughter-in-law, who died in 1798. It is assumed Susannah was deceased by that time.

The Revolutionary War record of Obediah Sylvester stated that he enlisted in Monmouth County, New Jersey. He was the husband of Mary Walling, granddaughter of Susannah. By 1793, Obediah was listed by Norton in Sussex County. No other Sylvester lived in New Jersey at that time, according to Norton's list of men who were of military age.

Grace Cogdell, Genevieve (Walling) Camillo, and Walter M. Anderson have proved their generations back to Inman Walling who died in 1802 in Orange County, New York. In his will, Inman mentions "all my land in the drowned land over the Wallkill." (ORANGE COUNTY, NEW YORK RECORDS: Liber B, p. 331). The children of Inman Walling and his wife, Anna (Amy?) Smith, were: Oliver Smith, Gabriel, Inman, Joseph, James, Phebe, wife of Seth Wickham; Mary, wife of James Rosekrance. Son Joseph had a son INMAN. The first name of Phebe's husband was provided by family historians.

It is said that Joseph Walling was the first white settler to arrive at the site of present-day Hamburg in Sussex County, New Jersey. He came to the area about 1740. After having lived in a log cabin for several years, he constructed the first frame house in Hamburg about 1750. It became a landmark not only because it stood on the state road, but because it was licensed as an inn. The building stood for more than a century before it was destroyed by fire in 1859, about eighty years after the death of its builder and owner.[1]

The name Joseph Wallen may be found today in the Minute Book of the Board of Proprietors of the Eastern Division of New Jersey. On 25 November 1753, Joseph Wallen was granted a lease "for three years from 24th March last at 10s. for 108 acres." The lease was executed by the Board of Proprietors of the Eastern Division of New Jersey.[2]

Joseph Walling, Sr. eventually owned a tract of land which extended from the west bank of the Wallkill for nearly a mile eastward.[3] When he died, he owned a fishery and a grist mill. Like so many other American pioneers, he probably was capable of constructing buildings, tilling the soil, and operating an inn. He left a will in Hardiston, Sussex County, dated 24 May 1779. The will gave his occupation as "farmer." His oldest son, Joseph, inherited the land known as the Walling's places, on both sides of the Wallkill River.

Youngest son Jeremiah was to receive one-half the fishery as well as the grist mill and lot. Eldest daughter Eleanor, wife of John Davis, £200; second daughter Susannah, wife of Joseph Wineright, £130; third daughter Phebe, wife of Jacob Chambers, £260. Daughter Mary Walling £250 when she reaches the age of eighteen. Youngest daughter Anne Walling £250. Wife Mary £200. My mother Susannah Bills £12 a year. Executors - Jacob Cuteback, Timothy Lindley and son Joseph. Witnesses - Joseph Wainwright, Gamaliel Truesdale, and John Walling. Inventory: £23,591, 19. 6 made by John Davis, Cyrus Beckwith, and Zapeth Byram. (Liber 22, p. 122). Will proved 15 October 1779.

Joseph, Sr.'s wife Mary filed her will in Hardyston, Sussex County, on 26 May 1798. Her heirs were: Daughter Mary Walling (now Silvester) and Anne Walling (now Price). Son Jeremiah: farm, mill, and residue: he paying legacies. Executor - Son Jeremiah. Witnesses - Dayton Talmage, Jesse Ford and Samuel Beach. Proved 3 August 1798. (Liber 37, p. 547).

The Walling-Inman Connection

Mary Malavery, daughter of John and Elizabeth, was the first wife of Edward Inman, III. Edward married, second, Lydia Whipple on 5 January 1745; however, Mary was the mother of all Edward's children:

> Michael, Elisha, Israel, Abraham, Edward, Elijah, Susannah (Inman) Walling, Priscilla (Inman) Walling, Penelope and Mary (Inman) Walling.

John Malavery, father of Mary Inman, filed his will in Providence, Rhode Island on 24 July 1712. In the will he mentioned his daughter, Mary Inman. On 15 September 1718, John Malavery, brother of Mary Inman, filed a will in which he named his nephew, Michael Inman. Michael was the only Inman child named in his Uncle John's will, that is not to say that he was the only child of Edward and Mary Inman by 1718. John stipulated that if his own two sons did not live until they were of age, then a son of each of his sisters should have his land divided equally among them. The nephew-legatees were Michael Inman, David Phillips, and Daniel Mathewson.

The parents of Edward Inman who married Mary Malavery were Edward Inman, Jr. (1654-1735) and Elizabeth Bennett who died in 1721. On 7 January 1734 Edward, Jr. deeded to his son Edward, III for love &c. land in Glocester. On 24 May 1736 the estate of Edward, Jr. was settled in Smithfield, Rhode Island. He mentioned his son Edward Inman of Glocester.

Edward, III died in Smithfield, Rhode Island 11 June 1755. His first wife, Mary, died 20 November 1744. When he made his will it was stated that he was "late of Glocester, now Smithfield." The brothers of Edward Inman, III were Samuel, Francis, Benjamin, Joseph, and Isaiah.

Elisha Inman, son of Edward and Mary (Malavery) Inman, died 23 June 1800, aged eighty-nine years and nine months. He would have been ninety years old about September 1800; i.e., he was born in 1710. Thus, it is known that Edward and Mary were married before 1710. It is probable that Michael was their eldest son. After more than thirty-four years of marriage Mary died in 1744. They had ten children, according to Edward's will:

> Grandson, Daniel, son of Michael.
> Sons: Elisha, Israel, Abraham, Edward, and Elijah.
> Daughters: Susannah Walling, Priscilla Walling, and Penelope Mowry.
> Mary Walling's two daughters: Mary and Hannah.
> Wife: Lydia.

THOMAS WALLING I lived in Providence, Rhode Island. He had six sons: Thomas II, Gershom, James, William, John and Cornelius. James was the only one who appears to have had residence in Smithfield, as well as in Providence, Rhode Island. The name of James's first wife, and the mother of all his children, is not known; she died before 24 March 1751. It is estimated that James was born c1669. His mother, Mary Abbott, died in 1669. James was evidently her youngest child. The children of James and his first wife were: James, Cornelius, Daniel, William, Abigail, Mercy, Mary, Elizabeth, and another daughter.

James, Sr. was first taxed in 1687, Providence. On 5 August 1721 he deeded land to his son James for love &c. On 1 January 1738, Smithfield, he deeded to son Cornelius of Glocester sixty acres for £120. On 28 November 1743 his son Daniel and wife Priscilla deeded to brother Cornelius of Glocester sixty acres for £740. James may have had a son John who also lived in Glocester in 1731.

With the foregoing information established by the GENEALOGICAL DICTIONARY OF RHODE ISLAND, it is plausible that Daniel, son of James Walling, Sr., married PRISCILLA INMAN, daughter of Edward Inman, III and Mary. The 1774 Census of Glocester lists Priscilla Walling as head of her household with one male over sixteen and three females over sixteen. The 1790 Census shows Priscilla Walling of Glocester Town with two female members in her household.

The mother of Joseph Walling (who died in Sussex County in 1779) had first married a Walling; then a Bills. Her name was Susannah. Considering the names of some of Susannah's near descendants, there is a probability that she was born Susannah INMAN.

In Orange County, New York which shares a common border with Sussex County, New Jersey, there lived the family of INMAN WALLING. There is some reason for belief that Inman Walling, Sr. who died in 1802 was a brother of Joseph of Sussex County, New Jersey. It is recorded that he owned a number of acres of "drowned lands over the Wallkill River," and he spent his life in the general area where Joseph and Mary lived; where Susannah (Walling) Bills probably spent her last years. Inman Walling's son Gabriel married Lucy Ann Rorick of Sussex County, New Jersey.

Norton's NEW JERSEY of 1793 records the Wallens and Wallings who were in Sussex County in 1793:

WALLING, Abraham	Wantage Township
WALUNG, Elisha	Wantage Township
WALLEN, Peter	Wantage Township
WALLEN, Cornel(ius)	Wantage Township
WALLEN, John	Wantage Township
WALLING, Jeremiah	Hardiston Township
SYLVESTER, Obediah	Hardiston Township

Since the ages of these Wallings are not known, it is futile even to hazard a guess regarding relationships between and among them. Yet it is known that Susannah INMAN had brothers ABRAHAM and ELISHA. It is also known that JOHN WALLEN was a witness when Joseph Walling signed his will.

The children of Susannah and Joseph Wainwright were Walling Wainwright and Jerusha Wainwright. Jerusha was also the name of a cousin of Edward Inman III.

Susannah's grandson, Joseph Walling, Jr., and his wife, Margaret Baird, had three children: JOSEPH, FRANCIS, and Polly (aka Sarah). Susannah INMAN had an Uncle FRANCIS INMAN, her father's brother. The names of Francis Inman's children were:

> Aaron, Abiah, Jeremiah, Susannah Francis, Joanna, and John.

The children of Francis Walling (son of Joseph, Jr.) and his first wife, Margaret Perry, were:

> Joseph V., John T., Abiah, Brice, William, Kate, Sally; Hester and Hannah (twins).

These observations regarding the similarity of names in the Walling and Inman families appear to be more than mere coincidence and tend to support the belief of the compilers that Susannah Walling (later Bills) was the daughter of Edward and Mary Inman.

NOTES

1. Edward Inman (16__-1706), the first known ancestor of the Providence, Rhode Island Inmans, was a glover by trade. He first appeared in Warwick in 1648. In 1651 he was granted land in Providence. His second wife was Barbara Phillips. The name of his first wife is not known. Edward died in 1706; Barbara died afterwards.

   The children of the first Edward Inman were:

INMAN, John	m. Mary Whitman.
INMAN, Edward, Jr.	m. Elizabeth Bennett.

   Edward, Jr. (1654-1735) was of Providence and Smithfield, Rhode Island. He and his wife Elizabeth Bennett had the following children:

INMAN, Benjamin
INMAN, Joseph	m. Deborah Smith 8 Dec 1717. d. 9 May 1734.
INMAN, Isaiah	m. m. Sarah Cutler 14 Oct 1744.

   Elisha, son of Edward and Mary (Malavery) Inman, was a resident of that part of Smithfield which later became Glocester; and which is today Burrilville. Elisha married Abigail Darling in Glocester 16 January 1745. Their children were:

INMAN, Susannah	INMAN, Elisha
INMAN, Abigail	INMAN, Martha
INMAN, Penelope	INMAN, Priscilla
INMAN, Anna	INMAN, Elizabeth
INMAN, Samuel	INMAN, Mary

   Elisha died 23 June 1809 at the age of 83 years and nine months: (b. 1725/26).

FAMILY GROUP

Joseph Walling, Jr. and his wife, Margaret Baird, had three children: Joseph, Polly (aka Sarah), and Francis. According to family historians, Polly "died in infancy," or "died at age six." However, another historian, Margaret Pfeiffer Brown, in her book on the Harker family (written in 1913) said that Polly became the wife of Captain Joseph Harker. Captain Harker was from the Wallkill area. Mrs. Brown said that Captain Joseph and Polly were both buried at Port Byron, New York, near the Erie Canal.

Joseph and his brother Francis went to Cincinnati, Ohio where they lived for several years. Joseph never returned to New Jersey but remained in Ohio. His descendants are unknown. The group sheet which follows is that of Francis Walling.

Will Of Inman Walling

In the name of God, Amen. I, Inman Walling of the Township of Minisink in the County of Orange and State of New York being weak in body but of sound mind and memory, blessed be God for his mercies, calling to mind the mortality of my body, it is appointed for all men once to die and after that to judgment do make and ordain this my last will and testament in manner and form as follows:

First of all, I commend my soul into the hands of God who gave it and my body to the earth to be buried in a decent and Christian-like manner hoping for a resurrection of glorification through Jesus Christ, my Savior and Redeemer, as for my worldly estate with which it has pleased God to bless me with

First, I will and direct that my funeral charges and all my just debts be paid out of my personal and moveable estate.

Secondly, I give and bequeath to my beloved wife Anna two cows, ten sheep, two hogs, two beds with the appurtenances belonging and one set of (utensils?), two pair of hand irons, one shovel and tongs; one riding mare, one large spinning wheel, and one small spinning wheel, two tables, six chairs, two cupboards, one high and one low chest, all her own wearing apparel, one tea kettle, one large brass kettle, one frying pan, two dinner pots, one dish kettle, all the pewter casthers and glass vessels, one yoke of handy oxen, one waggon, one plow, one chain, one iron-tooth harrow, forever. Likewise the whole of the old part of my dwelling house except privilege of the cellar but to have the whole privilege of the cellar under the kitchen during her widowhood.

NOTES:

1. The date and place of Mary Walling's birth were obtained from DAR records.
2. Essex County was formed from the Province of East Jersey. The county seat is Newark.
3. In a bigraphical sketch published in 1896 (R. 4, infra.), Joseph W. Sylvester, son of Mary Walling and Obadiah Sylvester, named his brothers and sisters. Among his sisters was "Hannah." It is assumed that Hannah and Anna are the same person. He also listed among his brothers, Wallen Sylvester. He does not mention Jeremiah. Possibly, Wallen was the second name of Jeremiah who, perhaps, preferred the name "Wallen."

4. The Children of Joseph W. and Eliza Sylvester:

   SYLVESTER, Elmer G. (d. 5 Nov 1862: 1 yr, 10 mo, 25 da.)
   SYLVESTER, Susan M. (d. 19 Oct 1867: 1 yr.)
   SYLVESTER, Mary Eva (b. 14 Oct 1856; d. 17 Sep 1890).
   SYLVESTER, Harriet E. (b. 1850; d. 1912).

   This family plot is located in Dwelle Cemetery, Portage Township, Ottawa County, Ohio.

5. Joseph W. Sylvester learned the tanning business with his brother William while they lived in Delaware County, Ohio. Later, Joseph worked for his brother in Port Clinton from 1830-1840.

   In 1840 he was elected County Treasurer, serving one term. For sixteen years (1844-1860), he was in the boot and shoe business; then, for twelve years Joseph W. engaged in the harness business. During this time he was appointed Deputy United States Collector of Customs for the port of Clinton. After 1868, having retired from his business, he became a fire insurance agent, representing several companies. Both Joseph W. and Eliza Sylvester were members of the Methodist Church at Port Clinton. They joined that church in 1841. Their son John Wesley Sylvester had three children: William Ray, Nora, and WALLEN JOSEPH SYLVESTER.

6. Obadiah Sylvester, Jr., son of Mary Wallen and Obadiah Sylvester, settled in Tennessee.

7. Wallen Sylvester, another son of Mary Wallen and Obadiah, settled in Texas.

NOTES:

1. Eliza Ann (Wise) Walling, wife of Jesse Dutton Walling, was the daughter of Peter and Margaret (Clark) Wise. Peter was born 10 April 1791; died 1840. Margaret was born in 1796; died 1837.

The Wise family moved to Ohio in 1837 and settled near Zanesville (Logan County) where Margaret died. In 1839 the family migrated into Illinois. There they had residence near Knoxville. Eliza Ann Wise and Jesse Dutton Walling met "while moving." They were married at Galesburg, (Knox County), Illinois.

After the death of Peter Wise in 1840, the Jesse Wallings moved to Louisa County, Iowa. From there, they began their westward journey to Oregon about 1 March 1847. They arrived in Oregon City during the latter part of September, that same year.

2. On Christmas Day, 1847, the Jesse Walling family arrived in Spring Valley, Polk County, Oregon where Jesse acquired a 640-acre land grant. He farmed for two years; then went to California to search for gold and to mine.

   By 1851 he was back in Oregon, farming and broadening his interests. He was appointed a road supervisor. Later he built the first stores and docks in what later became Lincoln (Polk County) Oregon. He also built a flour mill there and, as owner of the Peoples Transportation Company, he operated the steamboats on the Willamette and Columbia Rivers.

   Jesse D. Walling is credited with naming the town of Lincoln after Abraham Lincoln became President. Formerly, it was called Doaks Ferry because a ferry crossed the Willamette at that point. Jesse was a member of the Masonic Order.

3. Georgia (Comley) Walling, wife of Benjamin F., was the daughter of J. B. and Dorinda (McFadden) Comley. A native of Louisiana, Dorinda was born 20 November 1830. J. B. was born 21 September 1827 in Lancaster, Kentucky. They crossed the plains from St. Joseph, Missouri to Benton County, Oregon in 1853. They lived in Hood River, (Hood River County) Oregon from 1875 until 1886 where J. B. was engaged in the hotel business. Next, they removed to Nampa, Idaho where J. B. became a prominent realtor. Besides Georgia, the Comleys had two sons. Benjamin F. and Georgia had four children:

   WALLING, Dora M. (m. D. A. Baxter). Baxter served many years as Superintendent of Schools at Nampa, Idaho.

   WALLING, Frankie G. (He settled at La Grande, OR.)

   WALLING, Jesse J. (He became a prominent real estate dealer at Nampa, Idaho.)

NOTES

1. When John R. Walling lived in Canton, Fulton County, Illinois in 1832, he fought in the Black Hawk War.

   Black Hawk was the Sac Indian Chief who chose to fight for certain lands east of the Mississippi which the Sac and Fox Indians had ceded to the white settlers in 1804. Black Hawk, (who fought for the British in the War of 1812), considered the treaty invalid because too few Indians had signed it. By 1823 most of the Sac and Fox Indians had moved to the west bank of the Mississippi. They suffered famine on their new lands which were not so good for farming. Black Hawk and his men returned to the rich farming land of Illinois in 1832 and the Black Hawk War began. The Indians were defeated in two battles with the United States troops, and the war came to a close on 2 August 1832.

2. John R. Walling next lived in Davenport, Iowa. Then, he moved to Fulton County, Illinois in 1849. On 29 April 1854 he started across the plains, arriving at Amity, Yamhill County, Oregon on 1 September 1854. John was a building contractor, farmer and nurseryman.

Jan, 1799. THE JOHN ASKIN PAPERS published by the Detroit Public Library include information about ELIAS WALLEN "in Detroit as early as January 1799."

7 Feb 1800. Much difficulty was experienced by the settlers of Symmes Purchase (mostly New Jerseyites) over titles to land purchased in the region between Little Miami and the Great Miami Rivers, in the section of what is now Ohio in the vicinity of Cincinnati. To obtain relief from Congress in the form of correct titles to their land, the settlers sent lengthy petitions to Congress, stating their grievances and asking for relief. In one of these, dated February 7, 1800 is found the name of RICHARD KIRBY (same name appears earlier in Burlington and Salem County records in New Jersey.

10 March 1800. ELIAS WALLEN, Merchant, signed Indenture of Rachel Hustler, Detroit, Wayne County, Michigan. This indenture was to protect both parties during a period of apprenticeship.

22 Oct 1800. In another petition to Congress, of the same nature as the one dated February 7, 1800, but dated October 28, 1800 the names of BENJAMIN KIRBY, JOSEPH KIRBY, and RICHARD KIRBY are found. All of these names had appeared earlier in Burlington County, New Jersey Wills.

25 Apr 1800. Governor Arthur St. Clair had appointed ELIAS WALLEN to the office of Sheriff of the County of Wayne, vs Lewis Bond, resigned. (Detroit is located in Wayne County, Michigan.)

Carter, 1934, page 106, we find a document, dated September 2, 1800, Wayne County, Michigan (Detroit), regarding the desires of settlers of that area who were at first citizens of France, then of Britain, now of the United States. They wanted citizenship, educational institutions for their children, public mail, military protection, etc. In this list we find the fourth name, ELIAS WALLEN.

20 Aug 1801. ELIAS WALLEN was affiliated with Zion Lodge No. 1, at Detroit, Michigan.

1 Feb 1802. ELIAS WALLEN was granted a Demit on this date by the Zion Lodge No. 1.

1802/1804. 1850 US Census, Autauga County, Alabama indicates JANE WALLEN was born in Michigan in 1802. 1860 US Census, Dallas County, Alabama indicates JANE WALLEN was born in Michigan in 1804.

NOTES:

1. The date of birth for Washington Sparkman Deats is recorded on Confederate Service Muster Rolls of Texas at Texas State Archives. The Washington S. Deats family moved from Galveston to Dickinson, Texas about 1871.

2. The marriage of Washington S. Deats and Jane James Thompson is recorded among the records of Montgomery County, Alabama.

3. Pickett Deats, as a child, was killed when he fell into a well. (CITY DIRECTORY AND HISTORY OF ALABAMA, February, Montgomery: 1849).

4. During a fire in Austin, Texas when the Blind Institute was destroyed 18 December 1877, EUGENE THOMAS DEATS went in and, at the risk of his life, rescued some of the patients; but he never recovered from the burns he received. A statue in his likeness stands on the Capitol grounds in memory of him and others who lost their lives in the fire. (TEXAS UNDER MANY FLAGS,Vol. III, p. 274, by Clarence R. Wharton.)

5. The marriage of Eugene Thomas Deats and Katherine Frances Philips is recorded in Travis County, Texas.

6. Dates of birth and death for Jane James (Thompson) Deats are recorded by Geiser, HORTICULTURE AND HORTICULTURISTS IN EARLY TEXAS, pages 42-43.

7. Approximate dates of birth are preceded by "c" and were derived from census records of Texas at Texas State Archives.

8. Galveston County, Texas Marriage Records show the marriages of HENRY ALBERT DEATS and WALLEN SPARKMAN DEATS.

9. Information about Missouri (Zoe) Eugenia Deats was contributed by Zoe Anna (Davis) Phibbs. Her father, Louis P. Davis, and her husband, Andrew F. Phibbs, were both Methodist ministers.

10. In 1900 Wallen Sparkman Deats resided at 1113 - 36th Street; Galveston, Texas. He was a carpenter. At this time, Carrie A. indicated that she was the mother of four children of whom two were living. It is assumed these were children by her first marriage. Living at the same address, in a separate household, was Percival Outterside and his wife, Lottie.

11. Information about Henry Albert Deats and his wife was provided by Claude W. Deats and Merlin Deats Bludworth. Merlin was the daughter of Henry Albert Deats, Sr.

12. Elias Wallen, maternal grandfather of Washington Sparkman Deats, was Assistant Quartermaster at the Commissary at Mackinac and at Detroit. According to the Michigan Pioneer and Historical Collections, John Sparkman (later referred to as Colonel Sparkman) was Barracks Master at the Garrison of Detroit from 1784 or earlier to the end of the British period. Thereafter, he was Barracks Master at Amherstburg at least until 1807. In view of the above information, it is probable that Elias Wallen's first grandson, W. S. (Sparkman) Deats, was named for John Sparkman.

13. The Washington Sparkman Deats family moved from Montgomery, Alabama to Galveston, Texas in 1852.

14. Washington Sparkman Deats enlisted as 4th Corporal on 5 January 1863 at Brenham, Texas. Again, at age 42, on 3 September 1863, he enlisted as Private at Washington, Texas. He furnished his own horse valued at $200, horse equipment valued at $50, and arms valued at $50. He enlisted again on 16 September 1863 as First Sergeant in Washington County, Texas.

NOTES:

1. Myrtle Florence Lyons was the daughter of Martin Charles and Emeline (Funk) Lyons. Martin was a Civil War veteran, having fought on the Northern side.

2. Edwin Watts Deats was an oil driller, carpenter, stock raiser, farmer and, in later years, a dairyman.

3. Conrad attended the Sam Houston Normal College and, during most of his adult life, was engaged in the building supply business; including structural steel, paint, lumber and builder's hardware. He was Vice President of Gulf Sash and Door Company. His wife, Robbie, taught school until the care of her children demanded all her time and energy.

4. Edwin R. who compiled and published THE DEATS FAMILIES in 1973 and compiled Volumes V and VI of the UNDERHILL GENEALOGY published in 1980, spent most of his adult life as a construction accountant employed by Ebasco Services Incorporated and other companies in the Electric Bond and Share Company group. After 1952, his work required extensive traveling which contributed to his interest in genealogical research which he says is much more interesting than just sitting in hotel lobbies. At the time of his retirement from Ebasco in 1969, his position was General Construction Auditor. Today, Mr. Deats spends much of his time as a genealogist. His home is in Jersey City, New Jersey. Lucille, his wife, is active in the Engineering Woman's Club, Inc. in New York.

5. Warren S. worked most of his adult life for the American Oil Company as a refinery operator in Texas City. He also raised cattle and feed for livestock, as an avocation. His wife, Katherine, was an insurance adjuster at the Galveston County Memorial Hospital in La Marque, Texas. They were divorced in 1977; he now lives with his son Edwin Watts Deats in Cat Springs, Texas.

6. Malcolm C. was employed by Brown and Root Corporation as operator of an asphalt paving material plant. He has always been involved in cattle raising as an avocation. Malcolm and his wife, Therese, had a thriving florist shop in Dickinson which they sold and then purchased a "Livestock Auction Barn and Pens." This venture did a bustling business until the hot check problem, an occupational hazard, forced them to close. In 1984 they are operating a Retail Nursery Shop in Dickinson; the business is enjoying Therese's Midas touch.

NOTES:

1. William Wallen, Sr. died intestate. The appraisal of his estate was made 5 October 1852. The estate was finally settled 18 October 1865. (PUTNAM COUNTY RECORDS: Probate Records: pp. 470-471).

   In the appraisal records of William Wallen, Sr.'s estate, there was a charge of $4.67 due the County Clerk of Putnam County, Illinois for intestative administration of the estate of Abraham Wallen, deceased. Abraham's relationship to William, Sr. is not known.

   In the distribution, John Wallen's share went to his heirs: David Wallen, William Wallen, and Susan Wallen. The 1850 US Census - Putnam County, Illinois lists her name as Susannah.

   Among the appraisers was Elias Mecartea. There are some indications that there may be a connection between the McCarty and Wallen families. William Wallen, Sr. had a son, Elias. William, Sr.'s daughter, Martha Elizabeth (Wallen) and her husband, Thomas Lewis Wilson, also had a son whose name was Elias McCarty Wilson.

   Elias McCarty was born in Delaware. Sarah, his wife, and all their children were born in New Jersey.

2. At the time John Wallen married Catherine Houck, there were other Houck families residing in Columbiana County, Ohio.

3. At the time William Wallen, Jr. married Sarah Teeters, there were Teeters families in Columbiana County, Ohio.

4. Some information on this group sheet came from 1850 and 1860 Illinois Census records; other information came from the Wallen Bible. A letter from Ilene T. Grimes states that John Wilson gave his mother's birthplace as New Jersey (US Census Oregon: Yoncalla, Douglas County, Oregon).

5. At Lisbon, Columbiana County, Ohio there is a will of John Rakestraw and wife, Paris. Paris inherited the plantation; the rest was divided among the children, among whom was Mary. The will was dated 1820.

The Family of
John and Catherine (Houck) Wallen

John Wallen, son of William and Mary (Rakestraw) Wallen, married Catherine Houck 12 September 1833 in Columbiana County, Ohio. The known children of John and Catherine were: David, William, and Susan - the 1850 US Census - Putnam County, Illinois listed her as "Susannah." In that census record, David, 15, and Susan, 13, were living with their grandfather, William Wallen, Sr.

Samuel Colwell, 20, was living with Arthur and Betty Wilson (Lewis Wilson family). Susan Wallen, daughter of John and Catherine, and Samuel Colwell later married and had a son, Henry Colwell. Henry was a witness at the marriage of Samuel Wilson Davis and Eliza Harriet Wilson. In 1880 Susan (Wallen) and Samuel Colwell lived in Tehama County, California.

The only record which has been found of William Wallen, son of John and Catherine was:

1880 US Census - Illinois
Putnam County

WALLEN,	WILLIAM	38	(HH)	Ohio Ohio	Ohio
	Elizabeth	25	(wife)
	_____	M. 9	(daughter)	Illinois
	Emma J.		(daughter)	Illinois
	John W.	12	(son)	Illinois

David Henry Wallen moved to California in the early 1850's. He was in Eldorado County, California in 1856 when he filed in that county for his share of his grandfather's estate, as one of the heirs of his father, John Wallen.

In 1880 David was in Tehama County, working as a laborer at Cottonwood (now in Shasta County). According to the older members of the family, he used to visit Elias McCarty Wilson and other relatives who lived west of Corning. He was a first cousin of Elias McCarty Wilson. In the 1900 US Census, David was in Paskenta, Tehama County, California. Other data obtained from that census record:

WALLEN, David H. 66 years
born January, 1834 in Ohio.
Mother and father were born in Ohio.
Louisa (wife)
born October, 1853 in Virginia.
Mother and Father born in Virginia.
David and Louisa had six children.
Four were living in their household in 1900:
JOHN WALLEN (b. Feb, 1872 in California).
ELMER E. WALLEN (b. Apr, 1874 in California).
CHARLES C. WALLEN (b. Apr, 1879 in California).
ELIAS L. WALLEN (b. Feb, 1884 in California).

David Henry Wallen, son of John and Catherine, died 22 September 1907 in Red Bluff, Tehama County, California. He was born 11 September 1831 in Ohio. On the Death Certificate his age was given as 76 years, 4 days. Also, on the certificate was the statement that he had been a California resident for 54 years; therefore, he had arrived in California c1853. It was also stated that his father was John Wallen. David Henry Wallen was buried in the BEAR plot of Oak Hill Cemetery at Red Bluff, Tehama County, California.

NOTES:

1. There were four other children born to George Benton and Beatrice (Goold-Wheeler) Wilson. Two infants were stillborn and two others died a few days after birth.

   George B. and Beatrice Wilson legally adopted Flora Belle when she was three months of age. When Flora Belle was only three years old, Beatrice (Wheeler) Wilson died.

   Beatrice was the daughter of George Frederick Goold and Sophia McCoomb. After the death of her mother, Beatrice was raised by the Wheeler family. Consequently, she took the surname Wheeler.

2. Flora Belle Wilson, legally adopted daughter of George B. and Beatrice (Goold-Wheeler) Wilson, married Lawrence Grant Henrie Jensen. He was the son of Una Margaret (Peacock) and James Ozro Henrie. They were divorced when Lawrence G. was young. Thereafter, he was raised by his step-father, George Enos Jensen, from who he legally took the surname Jensen.

THE MARYLAND WALLINGS

James, son of Thomas II and Sarah (Elwell) Walling, was born 2 April 1705 in Salem County, New Jersey. Although no marriage record has been found, it is believed that he and Mary were married c1724/26, probably in New Jersey. In 1733 James and his brothers, William and Elisha, were listed among the taxables of Monocosie Hundred in Prince George's County, Maryland.[1] No DeLashmutt was listed among the Wallings, and that fact leads to the assumption that James and Mary were married before the Walling migration to Maryland.

Both Walling and DeLashmutt researchers believe that Mary was the daughter of Pierre de la Chaumette of Gloucester County, New Jersey. Pierre (Peter) resided in Gloucester County in 1694 when his name appeared on a tax assessment list of Greenwich Township. "Peter Lashoomate - 100 acres, 5 cattle."[2] In 1698 his name was on a list of delinquent jurors who were to be fined for their failure to serve.[3] There was a deed recorded 1 December 1701, Greenwich Township, Gloucester County, New Jersey by which Peter de Lachaumette purchased land on the north side of Barkley River, southeast of Beaver Branch of said river.[4]

James Walling was one of the signers of a petition dated 30 April-1 May 1740. Its objective was to inform the governor of Maryland and the two Houses of the Legislature that "vagabonds" were stealing the livestock of the inhabitants. Since they lived 150 - 200 miles from court, they were suffering hardships, because of the inconvenience of taking the "vagabonds" to court.[5]

On 10 April 1740, James Walling, Prince George's County, Maryland, sold to his great-uncle Jacob Elwell (brother of his Grandfather Thomas Elwell) a tract of less than 200 acres devised to him by his father, Thomas Walling.[6] The known children of James and Mary (DeLashmutt) Walling were: James, Jr., John, and DeLashmutt Walling.

According to a Bible record, James Walling, Jr. was born 20 September 1727. He and his first wife, Mary Malott, were married in 1754. He is believed to have had three marriages. The name of his second wife is unknown. He married, third, Mary Mercy Stull at Williamsport, Washington County, Maryland on 15 April 1787.[7] The children of James and Mary (Malott) Walling were:

1. WALLING, Nancy Ann (b. 17 Jul 1754 in Frederick Co., MD; m. William Worley 18 Jun 1783 in Washington Co., MD; d. 19 Feb 1837 at Lebanon, Warren Co., OH). William was born 16 November 1760 in Virginia; died 17 June 1828 at Lebanon, Ohio. Nancy and William are buried in the Pioneer Cemetery at Lebanon, Ohio.[8]
2. WALLING, Sarah (b. 1756 in Frederic Co., MD; m. John Shimer 17 Nov 1793 in Washington Co., MD; d. between 1795 and 1811).[9]

Mary (Malott) Walling died in 1757 in Washington County, Maryland. It is not known whether James and Nancy had more than two children: Other children of James were:

3. WALLING, Mary (m. Joseph Drake).
4. WALLING, Elizabeth (m. James Williams).
5. WALLING, Ruth (b. 1763 in Frederick Co., MD: m. William Simpkins 20 Mar 1780). Ruth was probably a daughter of James and his second wife.

The children of James and his third wife, Mary Mercy (Stull) Walling were:

6. WALLING, James (b. 31 Aug 1789 in Washington Co., MD; d. 12 Mar 1823).

7. WALLING, Mercy (b. 28 Mar 1791 in Washington Co., MD; m. William Reynolds 5 Dec 1809 in Washington Co., MD).
8. WALLING, Eliza (b. 23 Sep 1797 in Washington Co., MD; m. Eli Woltz 2 Jul 1816 in Washington Co., MD). Eliza died 2 May 1867 in Williamsport, Washington County, Maryland.

In 1776 James Walling, Jr. signed the Patriots Oath in Washington County, Maryland; he also signed the Oath in Frederick County, Maryland. He served in the American Revolution in the capacity of Lt. Col. He participated in the Siege of Yorktown.

The will of James Walling, Jr. of Washington County, Maryland was dated 14 December 1803; a codicil was added 1 February 1805. James died 20 October 1811 at his residence near Hughs Furnace, in Washington County. His will was probated 25 November 1811.[10]

The second son of James Walling, Sr. and Mary (DeLashmutt) Walling was John Walling who was born c1738 in Maryland. He married Anna Mayhew (b. 1740) in 1760. John served in the capacity of sergeant in the Frederick County, Maryland Militia (1775) during the American Revolution. He fought in the Battle of Brandywine, September 1777. He also signed Articles of Association in Frederick County, Maryland. The children of John and Anna (Mahew) Walling were:

1. WALLING, Elizabeth (b. 1762 in Frederick Co., MD; m. Caspar Missel).
2. WALLING, Joseph (b. 1764 in Frederick Co., MD; m. Susannah Haller 16 Aug 1791 in Frederick Co.).
3. WALLING, John (b. 7 May 1766 in Frederick Co.; m. Susannah Reed 29 May 1787 in Frederick Co.).

John Walling (b. c1738) died in Frederick County, Maryland after 1796.[11]

SOME OHIO WALLINGS

Descendants of James, Sr., and Mary Delashmutt

There were about six DeLashmutt men, some with families who went to Ohio from Maryland. Some were brothers; others were cousins. The only Walling in the group was DeLashmutt Walling. He was born 1740 in Maryland, and his wife's name was Mary. Their children were:

1. WALLING, William (m. Elizabeth DeLashmutt in Frederick County, MD).
2. WALLING, James.
3. WALLING, John (b. 1778; m. Keziah _____ who was born c1794 in MD).
4. WALLING, Jacob.
5. WALLING, Thomas.
6. WALLING, Sukey (m. _____ Bide).
7. WALLING, Elizabeth (Betsey) (m. Eli Williams).
8. WALLING, Mary (Polly) (m. James Matthews).
9. WALLING, Keziah (Caesar) (m. Martin Humble, 1816)

Delashmutt Walling left a will in Clark County, Ohio, dated 31 July 1822. He named:[12]

Wife: Mary Walling

Son-in-law: James Mathews

Sons: William, James, John, Jacob and Thomas Walling

Daughters: Sukey Bide, Betsey Williams, Caesar Humble, Polly Mathews Executor: Ezra Markle.

Witnesses: George W. Pearce, Asahel Cleaveland and Mary Pearce.

SOME MISSOURI WALLINGS
Descendants of James, Sr. and Mary DeLashmutt

William, son of DeLashmutt Walling and grandson of James (born in New Jersey) probably migrated into Southeast Missouri because of the terms of a will by Elias DeLashmutt.

WILL ABSTRACTS 1810-1825
Madison County, Ohio

ELIAS D'LASHMUTT. Will dated 28 July 1823. Present wife: Anne, mentions that she might remove to Kentucky - Daughter: Anne Maria D'Lashmutt - Sons: Edmund Lynn D'Lashmutt, Walter Collen D'Lashmutt and Francis Alexander D'Lashmutt - Brother-in-law: William Walling - Sister: Elizabeth Walling - Nephews: D'Lashmutt Walling, son of William Walling; Nelson D. Walling - Mentions land: Blacklick, Licking County, Ohio; lot in town of New Freedom, Frederick County, Maryland; town of Jackson and other land in Cape Girardeau County, Missouri - Mentions land on Deer Creek conveyed to testator of James McNutt by deed dated 31 February 1809 adjoining land formerly conveyed to testator and Van B. D'Lashmutt by Henry Coon. Executors: friends, Ralph Osborn, Arthur O'Hara and Samuel G. Flenagan. Witnesses: J. R. Parrish, John F. Chenowith, John Spain and Aquela Toland.[13]

William and Elizabeth were married 27 December 1796 in Frederick County, Maryland.[14] Among their children were D'Lashmutt Walling, as shown above, and possibly, Nelson D. Walling, John H. Walling, and, perhaps, Elias D. Walling. Evidently, William and Elizabeth did not leave wills; therefore, we cannot be certain about the names of their children.

Nelson D. Walling married Malinda Hayden 31 January 1826.[15] They are enumerated in the 1830 US Census, New Madrid County, Missouri:

NELSON D. WALLIN
2 M 00-05 1 F 20-30
2 M 20-30
1 M 30-40
1 M 40-50

If this is the same Nelson D. who married Malinda in 1826, it must have been a second marriage for him.

In the same census (1830):

On page 30, the same census, Lesieur, New Madrid County:

WILLIAM WALLING

1 M 50-60 1 F 50-60

The 1 M 20-30 in William's household may be John H. Walling who is listed in the 1840 Census, New Madrid County, as follows:

JOHN H. WALLING
1 M 00-05 1 F 00-05
1 M 30-40 1 F 20-30

On 9 May 1848 in New Madrid County, Missouri legal proceedings began on the administration of the estate of Dennis DeLashmutt, deceased. The minor children were:

1. DeLASHMUTT, John N.
2. DeLASHMUTT, Virginia
3. DeLASHMUTT, Bassel
4. DeLASHMUTT, Randolph

A number of bonds were posted, naming as principals and securities: William Pringle, John Jackson, and F. V. Lesieur. The period of time over which bonds were posted was 1848-1855. It is not known how Dennis DeLashmutt was related to the Walling families. There was but one Walling family listed in New Madrid County's 1840 Census - JOHN H. WALLING.

On 20 April 1850 Martin L. Stancil gave bond as administrator of the estate of JOHN H. WALLING whose heirs were:

1. Lucinda Walling (widow)
2. Elizabeth Walling.
3. Andrew Walling.
4. Modest Walling DeLashmutt.
5. Eugene Walling.
6. Angeline Walling.

Some of the DeLashmutt - Wallings moved from Missouri to Texas. The following census records for Shelby County, Texas apply:

ELISHA WALLING, SR (1708-1783/85)
(Thomas[1] - Thomas[2] - Elisha[3])

Elisha Walling, son of Thomas and Sarah (Elwell) Walling, was born 26 July 1708 in Salem County, New Jersey. His father died at Cohansey, Salem County, New Jersey in 1724. It is not known when his mother died. Presumably after her death, three of her sons migrated into Prince George's County, Maryland.

In 1733 the names of William, James, and Elisha Walling, appeared on a list of Taxables in Monocosie Hundred.[1] James remained in Prince George's County, Maryland where he and his wife, Mary, established their home. William and his wife, Mary Catherine, purchased 100 acres of land in that part of Augusta County which became Rockingham County in 1778. The land was "on North River, Shenando, above the Gap," i.e., Brock's Gap.[2] On 9 August 1748, William and Mary Catherine sold their property to John States;[3] and, in 1751, in the Augusta County Court case: West vs Walling, testimony was given that William had "gone to Carolina."

There was a William Willing on the Muster Roll of Company No. 6 Augusta County, Virginia in 1742.[4] On the same list were Nicola. Brock, Henry Brock, Frederick Brock, and Michael Brock. Possibly Brock's Gap was named for this family. It may indicate that they and William lived in the same vicinity. Also, on Company No. 6 Muster Roll were William Sharrle, Sr. (Sherrill) and William Sharrle, Jr. (Sherrill). Descendants of this family married Wallen descendants in Missouri several generations later.

In 1741, Elisha Walling patented land on Cherrystone Creek. It was an area lying within the very large county of Brunswick. From 1748-1752 this land was within the boundaries of Lunenburg County which had been formed from Brunswick. From 1752-1766/67 the Walling land was in Halifax County.

The earliest settlers of old Brunswick's western lands were largely from New Jersey and Pennsylvania. In 1748 there were a number of settlements on Smith's River in Western Lunenburg . . . "James and Daniel Blevins, well known hunters, had homes on Smith's River and their wagon road was referred to by surveyors."[5]

After the formation of Lunenburg County in 1748, an ever-increasing number of settlers came from Tidewater Virginia. On the Rent Rolls of King and Queen County, among the names of many others who later came to Southwest Virginia, was the name of Samuel Walden.[6]

There was a Samuel Walden who had come to Virginia at age 16 in the year 1635.[7] On 20 April 1688 a younger Samuel "alleged that he intended to marry Mary Hughes, spinster, and that he knew of no impediment."[8] Perhaps, this Samuel Walden was the progenitor of some of the Waldens who later lived in Halifax and Pittsylvania Counties. They may or may not have been related to the Wallings from New Jersey, some of whose descendants also spell their names WALDEN.

Furthermore, there were numerous other Wallings/Wallins/Waldens who also entered America before the American Revolution. They were:

WALLING, Richard	Virginia	1663-1679
WALDEN, Anne	Maryland	1723
WALDEN, Edward	Virginia	1651
WALDEN, Humphrey	Virginia	1623
WALDEN, Lawrence	Virginia	1721
WALDEN, Robert	Virginia	1622
WALDEN, Susanna	America	1767
WALDEN, Thomas (with wife, children and servants)	Barbados	1680

WALDEN, William	America	1753
WALDEN, Wm.	Virginia	1654
WALLIN, Ann	Barbados	1671
WALLIN, John	America	1764 [9]

The records of those first land entries and surveys made by Elisha Walling, Sr. are to be found in the Land Entry Book of Pittsylvania County, 1730-1770:

> Elisha Walling entered 400 acres on both sides of Cherrystone Creek and William Blevins entered 400 acres on both sides of Little Cherrystone Creek between Burton and Walling's lines. [10]

This record lends credence to the statement made years later that Elisha Walling's wife was a daughter of William Blevins.

On 17 October 1746, Elisha entered 400 acres beginning at Ivy Hill on the north side of Irwin River, later called Smith's River.[11] In 1747 he entered 400 acres on the north fork of Buttram Town Creek.[12] One year after that, he entered and had surveyed 400 acres beginning at Joseph Cloud's line on Sandy River. This entry was dated 6 July 1748.[13]

Elisha Walling, Sr. was appointed constable "in this county on Smith's River to the Wart Mountains." The territory was later to become Henry and Patrick Counties. This appointment was made in 1748 when Elisha, Sr. was 40 years of age. He and his family then lived on Smith's River at a place called "Round-About." It was located about two miles west of Martinsville.[14]

While it is frustrating to researchers that many pioneers carried the same first names of their children from one generation to the next, such a practice sometimes provides clues which are helpful in establishing family relationships. The Wallings of New Jersey who migrated into Maryland, Southwest Virginia, and East Tennessee often named their children: Thomas, Mary, Sarah, Elisha, William, James, John, and Joseph. Most of their names were of English derivation; many were Biblical.

Mattie (Rice) Howard wrote, on 16 February 1868, a short sketch about the Walling family. Rice descendants spell the name WALDEN. Mrs. Howard wrote that Elisha, her great-great grandfather was "large and dark;" that her great-great grandmother, Mary (Blevins) Walden was "fair and neat." Mrs. Howard listed the children of Elisha and Mary:

1. Margery Walden	m. Isaac Rice - great grandfather.
2. Betsey Walden	m. Will Roberts.
3. Sarah Walden	m. Clement Lee.
4. John Walden	m. Elizabeth Roberts. She was killed by Indians.[15]
5. Joseph Walden. He was killed by Indians.	m. Milly Jones.
6. Thomas Walden	m. Mary Cox.[16]

Mrs. Rice did not give her source of information. It is assumed that her data came from interviews and correspondence with older members of her extended family. Later research has established the names of other children to include Elisha, the Long Hunter and James, the Revolutionary War Seaman. Pension application papers have given dates of birth for John and James, the younger sons.

Because dates of birth cannot be ascertained with certainty in most cases, the children on the following group sheet may not be listed in chronological order.

The 1767 Tithable Lists of Pittsylvania County, Virginia provide several important Walling facts. On the list of Hamon Critz is the name of Thomas Walling. On Peter Copland's list: Elisha Sen$^{r.}$; James Roberts, Dauzwell Rogers, John Rice, Neel Roberts, Little Wm. Blevins, John Cox, Sen$^{r.}$; and John Cox, Jun$^{r.}$. On the list of Hugh Innes: Joseph, James Jun$^{r.}$; James, Sen$^{r.}$; and Peter Rentfro. The list of Robert Chandler: Elisha Walling & Negro Jake; John Blevins (son of Daniel); William Rice, John Blevins, Sen$^{r.}$; James Blevins, Jun$^{r.}$; and Dillion Blevins.[17]

The Pittsylvania County Court convened the second time at the plantation of Capt. James Roberts on Sandy River. Pittsylvania then included the areas which later formed Patrick, Henry, and part of Franklin Counties. The Roberts plantation on Sandy River seemed to be the central and most convenient site for a courthouse.[18] Some descendants believe that James Roberts, Jr. purchased his plantation from Elisha Walling, Sr.

Soon after Pittsylvania was formed, the county militia was organized under Col. John Donnelson. Elisha Wallen was one of those appointed Captain for the years 1767-1770. Since Elisha, Sr. would have been 59 years of age in 1767, it is assumed that Elisha, son of Elisha, Sr. was the one who received that appointment.[19]

Elisha Walling, son of Thomas and Sarah (Elwell) Walling, signed the Oath of Allegiance in Henry County, Virginia in 1777.[20] By this time, his married sons and daughters, with their children, had migrated farther westward to establish new homes on the Virginia frontier. Their names are to be found on the muster rolls and tax lists of several Southwest Virginia counties, as will be mentioned in other biographical sketches which follow.

Elisha, Sr., 69 years of age in 1777, was not left alone in Henry County. There were numerous members of the Blevins and Cox families, some of whom were not only neighbors, but relatives; and it is believed that the William Roberts who then lived in Henry County was the husband of Betsey Walling, daughter of Elisha, Sr.

There was William Blevins, Jr., whose wife was Agnes Walling. They did not leave Henry County for Sullivan County, Tennessee until after 1777 when they sold their property to Philip Thomas on 17 February of that year. It is not known which Walling was the father of Agnes. William died in Sullivan County, Tennessee in 1825. He and Agnes had a son, William, Jr., born 1760 in Pittsylvania County, Virginia. He married Mary Thompson who was born in 1777.[21]

The Personal Property Tax Lists of Henry County, Virginia for the years 1778, 1779, and 1780 included only one Walling. Some sheets for the W's in the 1778 list were lost. Elisha Walling was on the 1779 and 1780 tax lists. In 1778, the following Blevinses were listed: John, Jr.; William, Sr.; Dillion, William, Jr; and Willoughby. On the same list, members of the Cox family were: John, Talliaferro, Jacob, Phillip, Samuel, Benjamin, David, William, Jr;

Charles, Russell, James, and Francis. The following Roberts Tithables were listed: Joseph, executors of, 1779, James (Pittsylvania, in 1779), Spencer, Daniel, and Thomas. Also listed were William, Benjamin, John (Pittsylvania), and Daniel Rice.[22]

On 27 February 1783, Elisha Walling and William Roberts, among others, were credited with having furnished supplies to the Continental Army of the American Revolution. Elisha furnished two pecks of meal and twenty lbs. of bacon to Col. Lee's Legion. William Roberts contributed 600 bundles of fodder to Col. Richard Hampton for the Brigade of South Carolina wagons. He also contributed one "hogg (sic), weight, 80 lbs.," to Capt. Robinson's Company of Volunteers on their march to the southward. It is believed that this William Roberts was the husband of Betsey Wallen, daughter of Elisha, Sr.[23]

Capt. Elisha Wallen, of Holston River, Tennessee, made a call at Calland's store in Pittsylvania County, Virginia on March 25, 1785. The store's account book listed the purchases made by Capt. Wallen that day: "a fine apron, a fine handkerchief, and some black silk."[24] Historians have speculated as to the reason Capt. Wallen returned to his former home. The Wilders believe he may have made the long journey back because of the death of his father. No further record of Elisha, Sr. is to be found in Henry County after 1783.

ELISHA WALLEN - THE LONG HUNTER (c1732-1814)
(Thomas[1] - Thomas[2] - Elisha[3] - Elisha[4])

Historians usually begin their narratives about the Long Hunter with an account of the long hunt of 1761, the year in which the Cherokee War was ended. In that year Elisha organized a company of hunters, about twenty in number, and led them on an expedition.[1] There is not a complete list of all members of the company. Some of them were Jack Blevins, father-in-law of Elisha; William Blevins, Elisha's brother-in-law; William Pittman, Henry Skaggs, Charles Cox, William Newman and William Harrilson.[2]

Referring to the company of Long Hunters, organized by Elisha in 1761, Maude Carter Clement comments, "It is very probable that Walden and his friends had served in the recent Indian campaign and ranging along the frontiers had seen for themselves the great abundance of game that lived undisturbed in the virgin forest of Southwest Virginia."[3]

On that first expedition, Elisha and his company hunted in Carter's Valley (now in Hawkins County, Tennessee), along the Clinch[4] and Powell Rivers; "they followed the Indian trail through Cumberland Gap and explored the Cumberland River." In the fall of 1762, they were again in the Upper East Tennessee region.[5]

Wallen's Creek, Wallen's Ridge, and Wallen's Station were named for Elisha. Wallen's Station-camp was located on Wallen's Creek which flows into Powell's River. It was near the road that extends from Lee County Courthouse, Jonesville, Virginia to Rogersville and about one mile north of the Virginia-Tennessee state line. Another station was established at Greasy Creek, near where the Hawkins-Claiborne County line is now.[6]

Many people were hunting on the frontier but few ventured beyond Cumberland Gap because of the Indians. In 1763 Elisha Wallen and his company traveled down the Cumberland River, following the Indian Warrior Path into a fertile valley. There they set up camp, hunted and trapped along a stream which they called Stinking Creek.[7]

Near the camp was a buffalo salt lick. The hunters called the land around it, "Flat Lick." That part of the valley became Knox County, Kentucky. The hunters traveled up the creek as far as Roaring Fork, a gathering place for Indians. It is assumed that Roaring Fork was named by the Long Hunters. They were probably the first white men to see it. According to legend, it was so-named because the water "roared like a lion."[8] From Roaring Fork, they went into the Rockcastle section of what was to become Lincoln County, Kentucky.[9]

In 1764 members of the Blevins family went into Kentucky and hunted along Rock Castle Creek near the Crab-Tree Orchard. They continued to hunt there for several years afterward.[10] In 1765 two members of the Blevins family took £1600 of skins and furs into the store at Bethabara, North Carolina. The storekeeper, a Moravian Brother, took the furs; although he could pay only £40 for them. The men accepted the rest of their pay in merchandise.[11] Kegley reports that the hunters typically earned $1600-$1700 per season - a sum not often realized in a lifetime by a farmer in those days.[12]

The Long Hunters were so-called because of the duration of their hunting expeditions. Why were they willing to spend long periods away from their families, risk encounters with the Indians, and endure the extremes of winter weather in the wilderness? There were probably many reasons. Chief among them was the money they received from the sale of furs and hides. Not only did they find markets for them in Virginia and Pennsylvania, but they also carried on a brisk fur trade with England until the time of the Revolution. Some of the hunters loved the outdoor life, the solitude of dense forests, the sounds of rushing rivers and waterfalls, and the challenge of an uncharted wilderness. Most of them were friends or relatives who delighted in swapping tall tales around a campfire at night. Many of them loved the sport of hunting deer, buffalo, bear, and fowl which were to be found in abundance. They derived satisfaction from sharing their knowledge of a new frontier with neighbors back home. When they were successful, news of their exploits spread like wild fire among the settlements. In this way the Long Hunters may be said to have promoted the westward flow of pioneers.

Major John Redd of Henry County, Virginia who knew Elisha Wallen personally, has left to posterity his perception of the Long Hunter. In 1774 when Major Redd first met Elisha, the Wallens lived in the County of Pittsylvania (now Henry) on Smith's River. Elisha was "some forty years of age and had been a Long Hunter for many years." He was about 5' 10" or 11" tall; weighed about 180 pounds; was regarded as a very honest man. He lived at a place called "Round-About" near the center of the county about two miles from Martinsville, county seat of Henry County.[13]

Elisha Wallen, the Long Hunter, son of Elisha and Mary (Blevins) Wallen, was born c1732, probably in Prince George's County, Maryland.[14] The list of taxables for Monocosie Hundred in 1733 included the names . . .James Blavin, Daniel Blavin, John Cox, . . . James Walling . . . Elisha Walling . . . William Walling . . . Peter Cox, and Brewer Cox.[15]

In 1745 Elisha and Mary (Blevins) Walling, with their young family were living in Virginia. Although they patented land on Cherrystone Creek, in an area later a part of Pittsylvania County; they may or may not have lived on that land. If they did, it was for a brief period of time for by 1746 they were living on Smith River. The Long Hunter was about thirteen years of age when the Walling family settled there.

As county lines are today in Southwest Virginia, it is perplexing to study the many tithable, tax, and militia lists of that period when the Long Hunter lived there. It is believed that his parents never left their home on Smith's River; although county lines changed in order that new and smaller counties could be formed from the older, larger ones. At first, the Wallings were residents of Lunenburg County, then, Halifax; next, Pittsylvania, and later, Henry.

The tithable lists of Pittsylvania County for 1767 provide the information that Elisha was no longer living in the home of his parents. Elisha, Sen^{r}. was on the list of Peter Copland and his son, Elisha, was on Robert Chandler's list. Evidently, the Long Hunter lived near John Blevins (son of Daniel). It is believed that John was the father of Catherine, wife of Elisha.[16]

Soon after Pittsylvania County was formed in 1767, the militia was organized. Among those appointed Captain for the years 1767-1770 was Elisha Wallen.[17] He was then about 35 years of age. Sometime between 1770-1772 Elisha and his brothers James and Joseph were in the area which became Montgomery, County, Virginia in 1775/76. John and Thomas Wallen were listed in Montgomery County about the time the Revolutionary War began. As Major Redd once said, the Wallens seem to have moved "en masse" from Pittsylvania County to the Washington/ Montgomery County area between 1770/75.

Robert Stoner in his SEED-BED OF THE REPUBLIC gives tithable lists for the area which was then Botetourt County. On the list of William Herbert are the names of: Dosswill Rogers, Elisha Wallen, George Herd, John Vardeman, James Wallen, John Rice, James Blevins, Joseph Wallen, Moses Johniston, Neal Roberts, Nathaniel Banks, William Banks, William Rogers, and William Roberts. Mr. Stoner believed this was a list of tithables who in 1772 resided in areas which became a part of Wythe, possibly Grayson, and Carrol Counties.[18] However, a number of these names appear on a list of the soldiers of Fincastle County in those same years. Fincastle was formed in 1772 from Botetourt and then discontinued in 1777.

As required by law, Montgomery County, Virginia kept a list of persons who took the Oath of Allegiance to the Commonwealth of Virginia 1777-1779. Among those who signed, in the company of Captain John Cox, were: David Cox, John Cox, Daniel Blevins, Clement Lee, John Rice, Joseph Wallen, John Wallen and Thomas Wallen.[19]

Elisha Wallen, father of the Long Hunter, signed the Oath of Allegiance in Henry County, Virginia in 1777.[20] He was the only Wallen still living in Henry County in 1777.

Mary B. Kegley's SOLDIERS OF FINCASTLE COUNTY, VIRGINIA - 1700-1771 included the name of Elisha Walling who contributed one beef. In the company of Captain David Looney were: John Cox, Lt.; David Cox, John Hays, William Hays; William, David and Henry Roberts; John Cox, Sr. and Jr.; Dosswell Rogers, John Rice; James, Joseph, and Thomas Walling; William and Cornelius Roberts.[21]

Entry Book A of Fincastle and Montgomery Counties, Virginia includes the following: "Elisha Wallen, assignee by virtue of a Commonwealth Certificate enters 200 acres of land on the north side of New River on Rocky Creek to include the Improvement." (13 September 1782). Joseph Walling (brother of the Long Hunter) assignee by virtue of a Commonwealth Certificate enters 400 acres of land in Montgomery County, Virginia on the east side of New River below the mouth of Meadow Creek to include the Improvement. (13 September 1782).[22]

F. B. Kegley and Mary B. Kegley described Elisha's land acquisition as follows: "Elisha Walling, Assignee of James Newell, 200 acres on Chestnut Creek and New River on Iron Ridge. August 17."[23]

Six Wallens were on the 1782 Tax List of Montgomery County, Virginia. They were Elisha, Sr. (the Long Hunter), James, John, Joseph, Elisha, Jr. and William. All were landowners except Elisha, Jr. and William. It is believed, therefore, that they were sons or nephews of an older Wallen; that they were farming someone else's land. It is on this tax list that Elisha, Sr's name appeared with a "0" tithe. This fact is interpreted to mean that he was at least 50 years old in 1782.[24] He was assessed only for the land.

In Montgomery County's Survey Book D, p. 304, there is a record of the sale of Elisha's Virginia land: "Elisha Wallen by right of settlement, 200 acres on Rocky Creek of New River, known as Mine Hill, delivered to Matthew Dickey to whom land is transferred on 14 April 1786." The Long Hunter received his first North Carolina Land Grant in Tennessee in 1787, and he and Catherine moved to their home on the new frontier. Historians state that Elisha lived eighteen miles above where Knoxville now stands. According to the grant, there were "461 acres on the north side of the Holston River in Sullivan County." When Elisha and Catherine sold their "plantation" in 1796/97, the county line had change. The plantation was then located in Hawkins County and Elisha was living in Grainger County (formed from Hawkins).

Deed books of Hawkins, Grainger, and Claiborne Counties tell the story of Elisha's interests and activities after the Revolutionary War. He had turned his full attention to real estate. Nineteen land grants from the State of North Carolina totaled 5,730 acres. During this period, there were many lawsuits in the courts of Tennessee, as the early settlers contended with one another for possession of the land. It could be bought for a song in those days. Some dreamed that one day it would be worth a fortune.

One of the reasons there were disputes over property lines was due, in part, to the fact that the States of Virginia and North Carolina could not agree upon a common border. Initially, Virginia had commissioned Dr. Thomas Walker to meet with a North Carolina commissioner so that, together, they could establish the line. The two men met but could not agree; therefore, each decided to run his own line. By the time both men had passed the Holston River Valley, the lines were three or four miles apart. Each encroached upon its own state's territory in such a way that there was a corridor between the lines not claimed by either state.

Settlers rushed into the tax-free zone. It existed for thirty years; after which time a group of men from Virginia and another group from North Carolina met and settled the matter.[25] It was a circumstance which produced controversies over property lines of border-line tracts of land.

Some court cases were in litigation for years; others went all the way to the Supreme Court of Tennessee only to be remanded to a lower court for further details. Family historians of today are chiefly interested in the genealogical information contained in the transcripts.

In the case of James Berry vs Elisha Wallen, State of Tennessee, Hamilton District, it was revealed that Elisha and his family moved to their land near the Cumberland Gap in October, 1793. The land lay within the boundaries of Hawkins County. In 1796 it was in Grainger County and in 1801, in Claiborne. Elisha and Catherine's home stood in the shadow of the magnificent Cumberland Mountain. White oak, ash, black walnut, post oak and pine trees grew on the 640-acre tract. A large sinking spring bubbled in a small glade near Elisha's "dwelling house," and there was another spring three quarters of a mile from the Wallen home, on Wallen land. The Long Hunter's substantial assets derived from the fur trade were being invested in the beautiful land of East Tennessee.

Young Berryman Wallen, son of Elisha and Catherine, died while the family lived at Cumberland Gap. The Court Minute Book of Grainger County had an entry made on 12 June 1797: Elisha Wallen had come into court, qualified, and furnished bond to administer the estate of his son. Berryman was unmarried. His only possessions were a horse, a saddle, a gun, and some clothing.[26]

The Grainger County Tax List, 1799, shows:

ELISHA WALLEN, SR. 0 WP - 8 BP - 2570A $5.21

ELISHA WALLEN, JR. 1 WP - .12½

Claiborne County was formed from Grainger in 1801.

The Minute Book of the Court of Pleas and Quarter Sessions, 1801-1802, Claiborne County, Tennessee, p. 32, reveals that the court convened at the home of Elisha Wallen on the first Monday of June, 1802. The meeting occurred before the courthouse was erected in Tazewell.[27]

On 13 December 1802 it was ordered by the Court that James Renfro, father-in-law of John Wallen, Sr., . . . Walter Evans, who once lived in the home of Elisha Wallen, . . . Elisha Wallen, and John Wallen be a jury to view and lay out a road the nearest and best way up Powell's Valley from the line between this county and the County of Anderson to Cumberland Gap and report to the next court.[28] In September, 1803, Elisha was selected foreman of the jury.[29] In the following year, another jury was selected to view the Kentucky Road. Its report was as follows:[30]

> Beginning where Jurdens path intersects the Kentucky road; thence following the road as it is now opened leaving the house where JOHN WALLEN now lives a few poles on the left hand thence with Said old road leaving ELISHA WALLEN'S barn where it now Stands on the right Hand and his Dwelling House four or five poles on the left hand, thence on the direction of the Said old road as it now runs through the Gap of the Poor Valley Ridge crossing what is called Gap Creek, leaving the Store House at present occupied by Mr. White on the right hand thence to the State line near William Robertson's Mill at Cumberland Gap.

Additionally, the Minute Books of Claiborne County from 1801-1810 contain numerous references to the Long Hunter, Elisha Wallen.

Approximately ten years after his death in 1814, there ensued a lengthy court trial involving property lines of Elisha Wallen's land grants. The land was within two miles of Cumberland Gap. The dispute arose while the estate of Col. Arthur Campbell was in probate. The suit was brought by his heirs. Both he and the Long Hunter were deceased. John Wallen, Sr. was left to defend the title to that land which his father had deeded to him.

The land grants had been issued at a time when Virginia and North Carolina state lines were unsettled. Elisha's grants were from North Carolina. The overlapping claim of the plaintiffs had been issued by Virginia. Eventually, the plaintiffs won their case. Not long afterwards that same land had to be sold at public auction, and John Wallen, Sr. with his sons, John, Jr. and James purchased it. Once again, it was Wallen land.

One who testified for the defense was Walter Evans who had lived in the Wallen home in 1797. He had "run the lines" for the Wallen grants. He also stated that Berryman Wallen died some time in 1796; that he was a brother of John Wallen. Mr. Evans believed that Berryman and John had, perhaps, "ten or more" brothers and sisters.[31]

In addition to Berryman, John Wallen had a brother Elisha who lived in Washington County, Missouri Territory in 1819. This fact is documented by a deed dated 10 November 1819 and registered in Claiborne County. A copy of the deed follows the Matthew Wallen sketch. This Elisha who went to Missouri in 1811 with the Long Hunter and Catherine became the ancestor of the Southeast Missouri Wallens. He was born in 1795.

In 1826 he and his wife, Mary, had a daughter whom they named Susannah for Mary's mother. The following year they had another daughter. They named her Catherine for Elisha's mother.

ELIZABETH WALLEN who married William Baker was a daughter of Elisha Walling of Hawkins County, Tennessee. (Worth S. Ray, TENNESSEE COUSINS, 1966 edition, p. 192). Elizabeth was born in 1793.

CATHERINE, wife of Henry Blevins, was probably a daughter of Elisha and Catherine Elizabeth Wallen. Information about Catherine is from her pension application which was filed after the death of her husband. Henry died 12 September 1847. Catherine was 77 years old when she applied. She had been born in 1766. She had married Henry Blevins some time before 1 January 1794.

Henry was born 1 January 1752 in the Blockhouse built by Thomas Wallen and members of the Blevins family on Smith's River in what is now Henry County, Virginia. His obituary was published in the Knoxville (Tennessee) Register 29 September 1847. He participated in the Battle of Kings mountain, as well as in a number of engagements on the frontier.

William Wallen gave a deposition substantiating the declaration of Henry Blevins' war record. William, also, had fought at Kings Mountain. He said he had known Henry Blevins since his earliest recollections, and had lived within a half-mile of Henry's home until after the war. Descendants of William Wallen have not proved William's line of descent to date. He was born c1759, according to his own pension application.

In 1827 John Wallen deeded land to Henry Blevins who lived in Hawkins County. The deed was registered in Book H, p. 307, Claiborne County. Possibly, this was a transaction related to John's administration of his father's estate. Research on this point needs to be pursued further.

Another daughter of Elisha and Catherine appears to have been LUCY PALMER. Her first husband was _____ Haile. Lucy died at the home of Elisha (b. 1795) in Washington County, Missouri in 1850. He filed papers 1 January 1851, as administrator of her estate. She had been a resident of St. Francois County, Missouri. the heirs of Lucy Palmer were:

1. HAILE, Catharine who married Robert J. Hill 12 January 1837 in St. Francois County, Missouri. She was born in Virginia c1819.
2. HAILE, Missouri who was born in Virginia c1823. She married William Bryan c1847. They had a daughter, Catharine.
3. HAILE, Susanna who married _____ Brazil. In 1850 they lived in Claybourne Parish, Louisiana.
4. HAILE, Ferguson. He, Catharine (Haile) Hill, and Missouri (Haile) Bryan were residents of St. Francois County, Missouri.

According to family tradition, WILLIAM B. WALLEN and his wife, Isabelle, also accompanied the Long Hunter and Catherine to Missouri Territory in 1811. Family members insist that William B. was also a son of Elisha and Catherine. It is a fact that William B. established the first Wallen home in Washington County in 1821 and that he sold it to Elisha when he left Missouri in 1825. William B. and Isabelle were never located on census or other records after 1825. There are only clues to suggest that he may have died in Arkansas before 1850.

When Walter Evans lived in the Wallen home near the Cumberland Gap in 1797, it is likely that the sons and daughters still at home included John, Elizabeth, Lucy, William B. and two-year-old Elisha. Berryman was deceased. Doubtless, there were several others whose identities have not yet been determined.

Lincoln Amis (b. 1778) was another witness for the defense in the previously mentioned trial (Campbell vs Wallen). He went to live in the Elisha Wallen home in 1798. There is no evidence that he was in any way related to the Wallens. Mr. Amis spoke about the corridor of land which existed between Walker's Line and Henderson's Line. It was his belief that some people had gone into the area "to escape the draft in Hawkins County about the year 1788." Walker's Line was the Virginia Line which had been run by Dr. Thomas Walker. The Henderson Line was the North Carolina Line.[32]

Littleton Brooks (b. 1758) was another witness. He testified that Matthew Wallen once lived on the west side of the Kentucky Road in Powell's Valley. Littleton Brooks was the husband of Betsey (Elizabeth) Wallen.[33]

One witness testified that Elisha Wallen had possession of the land UNTIL HE LEFT THE COUNTRY IN 1811, leaving a tenant on the land. When the tenant left, John Wallen, Sr. and his tenant were in possession.[34] Other witnesses reiterated that Elisha had left the country IN THE SPRING OF 1811 and John Wallen had been in possession ever since.[35]

However, there are two pieces of evidence which offer a more nearly accurate time for Elisha's move to Missouri Territory. The first is a letter from A. F. Walden to Dr. Lyman Draper. The letter was dated 15 October 1853. Mr. Walden wrote that he did not know "Old Uncle Elisha Walden," personally; but he had heard about him from his father and other men who had known him. He stated that Elisha had moved "from Virginia to Tennessee; thence to Kentucky, thence to Washington County, Missouri." A. F. Walden had relocated in Livingston County, Missouri, having previously resided in Howard County.[36] His statement is corroborated by the following excerpt from the 1810 Census of Fayette County, Kentucky, p. 24:

WALDEN, ELISHA

2 M 16-26	1 F 00-10
1 M 26-45	1 F 10-16
1 M 45 &+	1 F 16-26
	1 F 45 &+

In addition to young Elisha (b. 1795), it appears that another family was traveling with the Long Hunter en route to Missouri.

The Long Hunter and Catherine who were enumerated in the 1810 Census of Fayette County, Kentucky; who "left the country in the spring of 1811, "probably arrived in Missouri Territory in late summer or early fall of 1811. They lived on the new frontier only a brief period of time before Elisha's death in January 1814. The administrators of his estate were his widow and Moses Austin who gave bond for $10,000. Records in the Office of the Probate Court, Washington County, Missouri, reveal that the estate's final settlement was made 20 April 1814.

The Wallen homestead in Washington County, Missouri was called "The Plantation" by the first Wallens who lived there. It was an unusual title for Missouri farmland; although, Elisha, the Long Hunter, also called his first home in Tennessee a "plantation." Furthermore, first settlers at Plymouth had been called "planters;" their land, "plantations."

Sixth generation descendants of Elisha, the Long Hunter, who are native Missourians acknowledge their debt of gratitude to this pioneer grandfather. His neighbors, of long ago, in Virginia and in East Tennessee knew him as "an honest man in all his dealings." Some remembered him as a patriot who helped Col. William Byrd establish Ft. Chiswell; a man who also helped to build the Fort at Long Island of the Holston.[37] The Long Hunter's friends respected his ability to organize and to lead in the daily affairs of men; and his acquaintances kenw him as a quiet person who loved the solitude of deep forests, rushing streams, and the peace of hidden valleys in the wilderness. Today's Missouri sons and daughters who descend from this pioneer grandfather are glad that he came to his final rest during the quiet season. It is a time when Missouri's streams turn to crystal and sparkle in the cold, red sunlight; when the ground lies dormant beneath the snow. It is a time when the ageless foothills of the Ozarks sleep; and, in their sleep, dream of another spring.

JOHN WALLEN, SR. AND HIS FAMILY

John Wallen, son of Elisha, the Long Hunter, was born in Virginia in 1777.[1] His birth occurred during a period of momentous change. Not only were most Americans engaged in the struggle for independence from English rule, but many Southwest Virginians were in bitter conflict with Indians on the western frontier. The changing of county lines, in conformity with an ever-increasing need for new and smaller counties, produced added turmoil.

In later years, a native Southwest Virginian was able to give a more specific location for his birthplace. He simply gave the county name as it was at the time he was speaking or recording a document. In other words, present day Montgomery County embraces territory that was once Fincastle and a part of Botetourt. Washington County was established in that same two-year period, i.e., 1776/77. Its territory had once been a part of Montgomery and Fincastle. Washington County covered a very large area; for it had within its boundaries sufficient land area later to become Russell, Lee, and Scott Counties. Montgomery's land area later formed Wythe and Grayson Counties. Had John Wallen been asked, he would have said, probably, that he was born in Washington County, Virginia.

In 1787 the Elisha Wallen family moved to their plantation "about eighteen miles above Knoxville, Tennessee,"[2] in an area "north of the Holston River."[3] John was about ten years of age at the time. Ten years later, the land was sold to William Armstrong and the family moved to their new home approximately one and three-fourths miles from the Cumberland Gap.[4]

Due to the loss of records attributed to courthouse fires, the compilers had to search elsewhere than in Claiborne County for the name of John Wallen's wife. The will of James Renfro, who died in Knox County, Kentucky, mentioned that Jerusha, daughter of James, had a son, John Wallen, Jr. Jerusha was born in Virginia in 1786. Her brothers and sisters were: China, William, Ruth, Buford, Polly, Jane, Charity, James, Theodocia, and Olivia.[5]

In 1830, James Wallen and his wife Frances were living in Claiborne County. The 1840 Census of Claiborne County shows:

1 M 00-05 1 F 05-10
1 M 10-15 1 F 10-15
1 M 30-40 1 F 30-40

James was embroiled in a legal battle with his brother-in-law Daniel Huff over the Wallen land which had once belonged to John Sr.'s father, Elisha, the Long Hunter. After the death of James, the trial continued. Heirs of James entered suit to recover their inheritance. John, Sr. died before the trial came to a close. It was a lengthy battle.

In 1880, the family of Theodocia (Wallen) and Granville Allen was enumerated in the census of Rockcastle County, Kentucky where they had lived since their marriage:

1880 SOUNDEX - Vol. 25 E. D. 94, Sheet 41, Ln 47

ALLEN,	GRANVILLE		63 KY
	Theodocia	(wife)	53 TN
	Robt. L.	(son)	14 KY
	Millie	(dau.)	11 KY
	Laura	(dau.)	9 KY
JOHNSON,	Fannie	(M-I-L)	73 VA

Further research on this family surely will reveal the names of other children. The census records for 1860 and 1870 have not been read by the Wilders.

Mary (Polly) Wallen, older daughter of John, Sr., married Daniel Huff. Mary's maternal grandmother was Charity Huff. The relationship, if any, between Daniel Huff and Mary's grandmother is not known.

Captain Daniel Huff died c1862. When driving down the mountain from Cumberland Gap, his horses became frightened and "ran away," overturning his buggy. He died as the result of injuries suffered in that accident.[6]

China Wallen, the younger daughter of John, Sr. and Jerusha, married Moses McAfee. They lived near Rose Hill, Lee County, Virginia. Those who knew China Wallen said that she was both pretty and intelligent; that she was "well-versed in the fine arts and could attend to her secular affairs with great accuracy." It was said that the McAfees "left the Valley sometime not far from 1880 and settled in Kentucky."[7]

China (Wallen) McAfee really becomes a living person, as one reads the words she spoke in her testimony at the trial of the JAMES WALLEN HEIRS VS. DANIEL HUFF. In an instant of time, the reader is transported into another century.

China was telling the court about her father and her brothers; about the land once owned by her father and her grandfather, Elisha Wallen. She defended her father's ownership of the land by his being in possession since the years of his father's ownership. There was no hesitation or faltering speech. China had been born and raised on the land where her Wallen grandparents settled in 1793. She remembered the building of houses on the land, the planting of crops, the renters who came and went.

In her mind, she reconstructed events of the past and her words flowed as a quiet stream through a silent forest. In 1836, John Wallen, Sr. had deeded a portion of the land to his sons, James and John, Jr. Did John, Sr. have a clear title to the land at that time? Or had someone he trusted asked him to sign a paper he could not or did not read?

Legal counsel once argued at length the question of whether North Carolina or Virginia had the right to issue a grant for that portion of the overlapping claims. (CAMPBELL VS. WALLEN). Virginia's right prevailed, and the land went to the Campbell heirs who were absentee landowners. Soon afterwards, the disputed land was again in the hands of the court. It was sold at public auction. The purchasers were John Wallen, Sr. and his sons, James and John, Jr.

A clear title to the land had been established by the Campbells as a result of their litigation. By virtue of their purchase of this same land, there was now no question but that the Wallens had a clear title to the land owned by James and John, Jr.

When China gave her deposition, several sad events had occurred in her family's recent past - the deaths of her brother, James, both of her parents, and her brother, John Wallen, Jr. Furthermore, her brother, Isaac, had moved away. She, herself, had married and moved to Rose Hill, Virginia.

"In the fall of 1842, my father lay sick," she said. "Brother John Wallen was his choice as a doctor. . . . while he (John, Jr.) was waiting on Mother, he became displeased with Lake (a renter) and told Father that he should rent the land to Huff; that Lake should go from there. Father said he did not want Huff on the land."

"John and his wife left the house one day and said, before he started, that he was going up to Huffs to rent this land to him. . . (John and Huff made a written agreement that Huff would be in charge of renting the land for one year.) . . . (Brother) Isaac was agent for (brother) John. In 1844 Isaac took possession of the land when Huff's year of caretaking ended. In November, 1844, I married Moses McAfee, and we moved away," China said.

When a question was asked about her brother, John Wallen, China's response was: "John Wallen died the 12th of February 1844 in Cincinnati, Ohio. He left a son called David Jackson Wallin. The child's age I do not recollect. He is living with his grandparents, if alive, somewhere near Mt. Sterling, Kentucky."

Court records of Montgomery County Kentucky include the guardianship papers and several inventories filed with the estate settlement. Closs Jones was appointed guardian of David Jackson Wallen; Mary Ann, the widow, served as administratrix. She purchased most of the items listed in the inventory.

The inventory made clear that John Wallen, Jr. was a pharmacist. He may have been called an apothecary. Some pharmacists were permitted to prescribe medicine in the early days. Perhaps, that is why China had said that John was her father's choice as a doctor.

Montgomery County Tax Records show that John Wallen (Red River), paid taxes in 1842 and 1843. His widow, Mary A. Wallen paid taxes in 1844 and 1845.

Mary Anne Wallen and John E. Stevenson were married 27 February 1845 in Montgomery County, Kentucky. They were married by the Rev. Mr. John Smith, a well-known minister of that day. He was first a Baptist; later he embraced the views of Alexander Campbell of the Christian Church.

In 1846, John Stevenson paid the taxes for Mary Ann and himself (Red River).

There were two John Wallens in Claiborne County, Tennessee - John, Sr. and John, Jr. One of them had purchased a 110-acre tract of land for himself and his brother, Elisha Wallen, of Washington County, Missouri Territory. The deed was dated 10 November 1819 and registered in Claiborne County. Since John, Jr. was born 1810-1820, He would have been too young to have negotiated a land transaction in 1819; therefore the compilers have concluded it was John, Sr. who made the purchase.

John, Sr. had been appointed administrator of the Long Hunter's estate in Claiborne County. One thousand acres of land had been conveyed to John, Sr. by his father when he left Tennessee en route to Missouri Territory. No record of a settlement has been found. Perhaps, it was destroyed by a courthouse fire.

It may be that John, Sr. deeded parcels of land to the heirs. Whatever the case may be, the 110-acre tract mentioned was in Powell's Valley on Gap Creek. No evidence has been found to show that the land was ever sold by either John, Sr. or his brother, Elisha.

A number of years later, a member of the Chumbly family received a Tennessee Land Grant on Gap Creek which he immediately transferred to Daniel Huff. Perhaps, it was part of the 110 acres which may have reverted to the State of Tennessee because no one bothered to pay the taxes on it.

NOTES

1. Elisha and Mary (Hughes) Wallen probably referred to their home with its agricultural land as "The Plantation," because some of their descendants continue to refer to the birthplace of their ancestors as "The Plantation." All of the children of Elisha and Mary were born there.

   The old, old house still stands; although it has undergone numerous additions and renovations over the years. The old spinning wheel which was left there for years is now on display at the Museum of the Mine au Breton Historical Society, Potosi, Washington County, Missouri.

   When the Wallen home (located near Irondale, in Washington County) was finally sold outside the family, Dr. Firman Wallen (son of Henry Clay) retained title to the land on which the cemetery is located. He also donated land for a "right-of-way," in order that family members and others interested might always have access to the cemetery.

MATRONYMIC LINE OF MARY (HUGHES) WALLEN
NICHOLAS HAYS AND HIS DESCENDANTS

The maternal great grandfather of Mary (Hughes) Wallen was Nicholas Hays. He came to America from Ireland in August, 1746 on the ship CHESTER.[1] He was "assigned" to William Scott of Philadelphia for the "consideration of £18; customary dues." Mr. Scott was a tailor and, presumably, Nicholas was assigned to work as an apprentice to him for a period of four years - this in return for the £18 paid to the person who financed Nicholas Hays' passage to America.

Nicholas had crossed the Atlantic on the snow CHESTER. A snow was a small sailing vessel resembling a brig. It formerly was used as a war ship. Many people were brought to Philadelphia on this small ship CHESTER and assigned to work a number of years for their passage to America.

In 1758 Nicholas Hays was on the Muster Roll of Bedford County, Virginia.[2] Evidently he served during the French and Indian War.

The name of his wife is unknown to the compilers; although Nicholas did leave a "large Bible" among other items of personal property when he died c1804. Surely someone in the family would have cared enough to preserve the Bible. An inventory of the estate of Nicholas Hays is included in this section.

From deeds on file in Greene County, Tennessee, it appears that Nicholas owned a sizeable tract of land; yet he lived on a 30-acre farm. He may well have been a tailor or a weaver by trade, as well as a farmer. His inventory included yards of hand-loomed cloth.

The moral fiber of America was strengthened by Nicholas Hays and those like him who came to the New World willing to work; to sacrifice for their families; to help their neighbors, and to defend their newly-adopted homeland.

DAVIS, Sarah	b. 1783	DAVIS, Nicholas	b. 1798
DAVIS, Peggy	b. 1784	DAVIS, Samuel	b. 1800

Compilers' notes indicate that Polly (b. 1787) married Christopher Bradshaw in 1806; and that Neley (Nellie E.) was born 2 March 1802; married Elijah Cate; and died 25 October 1874.

Mary was 84 years old on 16 November 1848 when she applied for continuance of pension.

The will of Nicholas Davis, dated 13 June 1829; proved 14 September 1829; was filed in Jefferson County, Tennessee. He mentioned:

Sons: Nicholas Hays Davis (oldest), Samuel Davis and James Davis. Daughters: Sarah, Alcey, Betsey, and Mahala Davis; and Polly (Davis) Bradshaw.

Nicholas Hays Davis and his brother, James, were the executors of the estate. (JEFFERSON COUNTY, TENNESSEE RECORDS: Will Book 3: 1826-1840, p. 60).

Mary (Hays) Davis was in the household of her son-in-law Elbert Pierce and her daughter Mahala in 1850. Another daughter of Mary, Sarah Davis, was also living with the Pierce family in Jefferson County. Next door to the Pierce family was Mary A. Davis (born c1805). She, probably, was the widow of a deceased son of Mary (Hays) Davis. (1850 US CENSUS-TENNESSEE: Jefferson County, pp. 431A and 431B).

2. Revolutionary War pension applications of John Hays, William Hays and Nicholas Davis, husband of Mary Hays, indicate that all enlisted in Bedford County, Virginia. Nicholas enlisted in 1778 at New London, Bedford County in the Company of Captain Alexander Cummings. They marched to Valley Forge where Captain Alexander Cummings resigned. Nicholas served under other commands and was finally discharged at Williamsburg in 1781. He also fought in the Indian Wars of Tennessee. In 1818 William Hays stated that he and Nicholas had been "mess mates" during a part of their time of service. He is "now a neighbor of Nicholas Davis." Nicholas was a tailor by trade.

7. John Hays filed a declaration for a Revolutionary War pension in Jefferson County, Tennessee in the September Session, 1826. He was then 70 years of age (b. 1756). He enlisted in Bedford County, Virginia. His second wife was Polly (Shaddon) Hays. He had a son Cyrus about 18 years of age (b.1808); three daughters: Aily 16 (b. c1810), Jane 16 (b. c1810), and Margaret (b.c1814).

Polly Hays filed a declaration in Jefferson County, Tennessee on 17 April 1855. Her husband died 5 May 1833. In 1855, she was 83 years old. She made her declaration in order to claim Bounty Land. Cyrus, son of John and Polly Hays, married Anna Ferrell 18 February 1830 in Jefferson County (Marriage #2203).

1. On 1 December 1848 in Jefferson County, Tennessee Mary Ann Cline (as an heir of William Hays, deceased) and her husband, Peter A. Cline, sold her one-sixth share in the 100-acre tract of land owned by her father, William Hays. It was stated in the deed that Mary Ann's share was 1/2 of 33-1/3 acres. The other half had already been sold by the heirs of Mary Ferrell Cate, viz., Montgomery Cate, John L. Cate, and Harriet Cate. All of the land which had been purchased by William Hays, and which he had surveyed in 1824, was sold to Shadrack W. Inman. (JEFFERSON COUNTY, TENNESSEE RECORDS: Deed Book I, pp. 606-608).

William T. Hays sold the "undivided share of the land which my father William Hays died seized and possessed . . . " on 12 December 1859. He sold the 66-2/3 acres for $60. The 100-acre tract was purchased by Shadrack W. Inman.

J. T. and Adeline (Wallen) Bay[1]

A biographical sketch of J. T. Bay, Shannon County, Missouri, mentions that he married Adeline, daughter of John and Mary (Dent) Wallen in 1876. Mr. Bay described his father-in-law as "an old-time farmer of St. Francois County" who had served as a machinist during the Civil War. It is not clear where the John Wallen family resided in 1876 when Adeline married J. T. Bay. They may have been living in Dent or Shannon County.

The date of birth for Adeline is not known. J. T. Bay was born in 1851 in Shannon County. He divided his time between agriculture and public service. He served lengthy periods of time as County Collector and as County Sheriff. His record in public office was said to be "unassailable."

The Bay family owned and operated a 196-acre "well-stocked" farm which was located near Eminence in Shannon County. J. T. Bay was a Thirty-second Degree Mason and a Shriner. He and Adeline were Presbyterian:

WALLEN - WESTOVER FAMILIES

Nelson Wallen, son of Elisha and Mary (Hughes) Wallen, was born in Washington County, Missouri 17 February 1819. He married Mary Caroline Westover on 9 September 1841.

Caroline, born 24 November 1824, was the tenth child of eleven born to Job and Jane Simms Westover. They had been married in Ste. Genevieve, Missouri on 7 April 1804 by a Catholic priest. A translation of the marriage record was made by Randall and Olive Murrill in their book, WESTOVER FAMILIES IN MISSOURI:

> Joab Westover, son of Joab Westover and Rachel Bush, native of Massachusetts, of the protestant religion, to Jane Symes (Simms), daughter of Edward Simms and Elizabeth James of Maryland, of the Catholic religion. Married in the house of Mr. James, uncle of the bride, by Maxwell Cure'. Witnesses: William James; Francois Valle; Chas. Smith; A. Henry; Jsh. Vital; Ant. Villars; W. Fenwick; Bte Valle, Jr.

Records show that the younger Job Westover lived on the Saline (Ste. Genevieve District) when Missouri was under Spanish rule in 1798. It is said that he was a millwright and carpenter in those early days.

Caroline Westover Wallen's paternal grandfather, Job Westover, Sr., was a soldier of the American Revolution. Her father and mother were among the first Missouri pioneers.

Nelson and Caroline Wallen lived in Concord Township of Washington County on Wallen Creek from the time of their marriage in 1841 until the death of Nelson on 15 September 1857. On their farm they had both a grist mill and a saw mill. At one time they owned approximately 150 acres of land; however, 50 acres were sold while they continued to farm.

Nelson Wallen went West during the gold rush. Like many of his neighbors, he dreamed of "striking it rich." The sad truth was quite different from his dream. He did return home with a few very small nuggets of gold in the toe of one of his socks. Some family members thought he may have bought the gold. He brought home to his family typhoid fever bacteria. His oldest daughter, Mary Adeline, died at the age of 7 years, 9 months, and 14 days; Lucinda Winnie died at the age of 2 years, 5 months, and 3 days; and Emily Caroline died at the age of 9 months and 16 days. Elizabeth Jane, Julia Ann, and Frances Mariah were the three remaining children. Finally, it is said that Nelson also contracted the disease and died. His last child, Mary Nelson, was born 3 months after his death. She lived only 3 years and 1 month. The cause of her death is unknown.

With only three little girls left to her, Caroline could not manage the farm and operate the mills; so she sold her property and purchased a farm in Bismarck, St. Francois County. Years later, the Bismarck Public Schools stood on the site of Caroline's farm.

CAROLINE WALLEN

On 6 November 1863 Caroline Wallen married, second, John B. Latourno. They were the parents of Alice Justina Latourno, born 22 January 1865. John Latourno died in May, 1900; Caroline passed away 7 February 1906.

Alice Justina Latourno married Robert M. Davis of Davis Crossing, Missouri on 5 February 1885. They were the parents of Flora May Davis (27 January 1886-3 May 1887); Archie Elbert Davis (24 August 1888-24 December 1888); and Ivan H. Davis (9 July 1902-7 October 1902).

Robert M. Davis who was born in 1857 died in 1936. Alice Latourno Davis passed away in 1953. The Davis family and John and Caroline (Wallen) Latourno are all interred in the Old Bismarck Cemetery.

The Wallen descendants of Nelson and Caroline are traced through three brances - the families of daughters Elizabeth Jane, Julia Ann, and Frances Mariah all of whom lived to adulthood and became heads of families. Their group sheets follow this sketch.

CORRECTION OF MARRIAGE RECORD
Washington County Courthouse, Potosi, Missouri

MARRIAGE BOOK B - p. 82:	This record should read
Nelson Wallen to Ellen Imboden December 20, 1849	Wilson Wallen to Ellen Imboden December 20, 1849

PROOF OF THIS CORRECTION is to be found in the 1850 Census of Washington County, Missouri:

Belleview Township, p. 124

#496	WALLEN,	Wilson	24 MO
		Ellen	27 MO

Belleview Township, p. 125

#514	WALLEN,	Nelson	32 MO
		Caroline	30 MO
		Adaline	8 MO
		Elizabeth	4 MO
		Lucinda	1 MO

Wilson's second marriage (to Mary (Polly) Ann Woods) was on 10 November 1853. Presumably, Ellen (Imboden) Wallen died between 1850-1853. The 1860 Census of Washington County shows that Wilson's family was:

#228	WALLEN,	Wilson	36 MO
		Polly A.	23 MO
		Jenny	7 MO
		Sarah	4 MO
		Jackson	6/12 MO

Nelson Wallen was married to Mary Caroline Westover on 9 September 1841 (Marriage Book A - p. 208). He was married only once, and he died on 15 September 1857.

NOTES

1. Bertram and Bessie (Bisplinghoff) Meyer had two children: Eva Doris (13 Aug 1915-23 Nov 1918) and Bertrice who is living in 1984.

   Bertram and Bessie Meyer died the same day, 16 November 1918. All members of that family who were deceased in 1918 died from influenza.

   Ollie Hines, brother of Amanda Meyer, often said that Bert was his favorite nephew. Bert was only two years younger than Ollie.

2. MADISON COUNTY, MISSOURI MARRIAGE RECORDS contain the following data:

   28 December 1848. Conrad Meyer - Catherine Weiss
   By James Kincead, M.G.

3. Frederick Meyer, husband of Amanda Hines, appears in the household of his parents in the 1870 Census, Liberty Township, St. Francois County, Missouri:
   54/53
   MEYER, Conrad 41 Hesse, Darmstadt, Germany
   Caroline 40 Lower Saxony, Brunswick, Germany
   Children listed*(all born in Missouri): William, 17; Conrad, 15; Frederick, 10; Mary, 8; Henry, 6; Elizabeth, 4; Emma, 2; and Noah 9/12. In the same household were William Wise, 48; and Andrew Wise, 75, both of Lower Saxony, Brunswick, Germany. Values shown for Conrad's Real and Personal Estate were $1600 and $1000 respectively. *(Caroline, 18)

On this Missouri Census, the place of birth for members of the Wise family was given without the name of the German state. However, it is clear that today the city of Brunswick (near Darmstadt) is in the State of Lower Saxony. Both Hesse (Hessen) and Lower Saxony are states in West Germany - of which there are ten. Weisbaden is located just inside the border of Hessen.

After the war, the zone of the United Kingdom (or the British Zone) consisted of the former state of Hamburg, portions of the former state of Prussia, and the former states of Brunswick, Oldenburg, Schaumburg-Lippe, and Lippe. For administrative purposes the zone was divided into four states: Schleswig-Holstein, Lower Saxony, North Rhine-Wesphalia, and Hamburg. The capitals of these states are: Potsdam, Dresden, Halle, Weimar and Schwerin.

The Conrad Meyer family had two Wise family members in the household. It is conjectured that Andrew Wise was the father of Caroline Meyer and the father-in-law of Conrad; that William Wise was the brother of Caroline Meyer.

Conrad and Caroline Meyer were the paternal grandparents of Amanda and Frederick Meyer's children. It appears that their great grandfather was ANDREW WISE.

The Ebrecht household (shown below) was a near-neighbor of the Conrad Meyer household. It may be that Catherine Ebrecht (who was also born in Hessen, Germany) was a sister of Conrad Meyer; or it may be that these people were merely friends and neighbors from Germany. There is sufficient information here that these families might be traced to their homes in Germany. Church and other records could prove their relationships.

+ + + + + + + + + + + +

The following was given to Helen Summers by Pearl (Hines) Walden:

"Andrew Hines was a railroad man - first a brakeman, then a freight train conductor, and after that, a passenger train conductor. He married very young, and the family lived mostly in Bismarck, Missouri; but, for two or three years, they lived in Jonesboro, Arkansas. His wife was Francis Mariah Wallen. She was only about fourteen when they were married. Andrew Hines died of pneumonia while he was visiting his daughter, Ada, who lived in Charleston, Missouri. He was brought back to Bismarck for burial in the old Dent Cemetery."

Another letter from Aunt Pearl to her nephew and niece, Frank and Helen Summers:

"Ada met Will Summers in Jonesboro, Arkansas. They married there and went to housekeeping in a little white house. How Will ever drifted to Arkansas, I wouldn't know. I remember when he was coming to see Ada. I would stick around like all kids do, and he would give me chewing gum. Sometimes, when they would go walking, (no cars, then), they would take me with them. I always adored Ada and would cry to go with her. I don't think we lived in Arkansas more than two or three years. Railroad men were always being transferred; but, in due time, we all landed back in Bismarck. My mother and father died eleven months apart. After that, I made my home with Ada, and my two brothers went to live with Amanda."

DR. FRANCIS MARION SUMMERS AND HIS FAMILY

(WALLING/WALLEN, Thomas[1] - Thomas[2] - Elisha[3] - Elisha[4] - John[5] - Elisha[6] - Nelson[7] - Frances Mariah[8] - HINES, Ada Roberta - SUMMERS, Francis M.[10])

Francis Marion Summers was born 8 June 1906 in Fredericktown, Madison County, Missouri. Incidents in the very early life of Francis are hazy in his later recollections because, soon after his birth, the family began to move from place to place - first in Missouri and later, in Texas. His mother, Ada, was a chronic asthmatic and the trail of movements represented a quest for a favorable climate. Economics required that Will, a carpenter by trade, live in one place while Ada and Francis became migrants for several years.

Edna, first born child of Ada and Will, was married to Norman Polkinhorn and resided in Laredo, Texas, while the Summers moved about. Edna and Norman with their two small children eventually moved to Southern California, and the three members of the Summers family soon followed. In March, 1923 Ada died.

Francis finished high school in Calexico, California, attended Central Junior College in El Centro, California; then finished college at University of California, Berkeley. Francis became an instructor in Biology at the College of the City of New York (CCNY) in order to support full-time graduate study at Columbia University - MS, 1932; PhD, 1935.

He was first employed as Tutor in Biology, CCNY, then instructor in Biology at Bard College, Annandale-on-Hudson, New York. He taught at Cornell Medical School and, again, at CCNY. During World War II, he joined the College of Agriculture, University of California at Davis and eventually retired from that institution, as Professor of Entomology.

Francis's professional research and publications covered several fields of study: comparative anatomy, protozoology, entomology and acarology (mites). His publications include 91 papers, bulletins, monographs and several books. Late in his career, Francis became a world authority on a group of mites, the Raphignathidae, principally the outgrowth of a sideline or incidental occupation.

Helen Fleming Summers

Helen Fleming and Francis Marion Summers were married 24 August 1940 at Annandale-on-Hudson, Dutchess County, New York.

Helen, who was born in Bloomington, McLean County, Illinois, attended elementary school there and high school in Normal, McLean County, Illinois. She graduated from Washington University, St. Louis, Missouri in 1927. From 1929 to 1937 Helen worked in New York City as a secretary in the Foster Home Department of the New York Children's Aid Society.

Helen attended Columbia University 1937-1938 and received a degree in Library Science. She then worked for the New York Public Library in the Personnel Office of the Circulation Department and later as librarian in various branches.

In 1943 Helen and Frank moved to California. In 1944, their son Robert Fleming Summers was born. Helen then became a housewife and volunteer in many organizations in the community, such as Red Cross, TB Association, political clubs, PTA and the United Methodist Church of Woodland. Her hobby is working on genealogy. Helen and Francis have long resided in Woodland, California.

GENERATION XI

SUMMERS, Robert Fleming - LAWSON, Marilyn

Robert Fleming Summers

Robert was born 21 August 1944 at Turlock, Stanislaus County, California. He married Marilyn Lawson 18 September 1945 at Coraopolis, Allegheny County, Pennslyvania. She was born 18 September 1945 in Sewickley, Allegheny County, Pennsylvania. Robert and Marilyn have one child:

SUMMERS, Samantha Fleming (born 8 July 1980 in Los Angeles, California.

Robert was three years old when his father and mother moved to Woodland, California. He attended the public schools in Woodland from kindergarten through high school. When he was 18, he joined the US Navy and spent four years in the service as a musician.

Robert played the trumpet all through his early schooling and, since this was his main interest, he decided to further his education in music by attending the Berklee College of Music in Boston, Massachusetts and became a professional musician.

After 4-1/2 years in Boston, Robert left to become a member of the Woody Herman Band for six months. Later he was a member of the Maynard Ferguson Band, about three years. After his marriage and move to Los Angeles, he free-lanced until he became a member of the Count Basie Orchestra where, after four years, he still remains. His first album with a group of his own choosing appeared in July, 1984. He is both a composer and soloist. Robert's hobby is stamp collecting.

Marilyn Lawson Summers

Marilyn was educated in the schools of Coraopolis, Pennsylvania and is a graduate of Duquesne University of Pittsburgh with a Masters Degree in Music Education. She plays the flute and has played in several eastern orchestras. She taught instrumental music in Pittsburgh parochial schools and after her marriage taught instrument and band music in a parochial school in Long Beach, California.

MY FATHER
OLLIE LUTHER HINES

My sister, brother, and I grew up in the knowledge that our father was a kind-hearted and generous person; but he was also a no-nonsense disciplinarian. When we were guilty of some minor infraction of parental rules, we sometimes dared to ask him, "Why?"

His answer was invariably the same, "Because I said so!"

Dad was honest, industrious, and intelligent. He never carried a grudge. His most outstanding characteristic was his humility. Affectation and pride were two things he detested.

My father lost his parents before he was old enough to be independent. He lived for a time with his oldest sister, Amanda, and her family. Then he lived, briefly, with an aunt and uncle. He attended a German parochial school and the Bismarck Public Schools. The schools stand today on the land that once belonged to his maternal grandmother, Caroline Westover Wallen. The present red brick high school building was built by him about 1929.

Dad had a knack for getting along with people. His sense of humor and the natural trust he engendered in all who knew him resulted in his making and keeping many friends. Once he was ill and the doctor ordered him to bed for a few days. During that short period of time, there were literally scores of friends who came to visit him.

He was a member of the Methodist Church and of the Masonic Lodge. Once he served a term as a member of the local school board. Dad enjoyed fishing and hunting. Early in our lives he taught us to enjoy trips to the woods to gather paw-paws, persimmons, or to pick wild huckleberries. He encouraged us to practice our piano lessons and rewarded us by purchasing a grand piano when we were in the upper grades. Although he had never learned how to type, he bought a typewriter in order that we might have additional opportunity for extra practice at home.

When we were children, we thought of our father as being a large man; but now, looking back, we know that he was of medium stature. His hair was blond; his eyes, blue. He was quick in his reactions; quick to take the initiative in matters requiring a decision. When angry, he had a sharp tongue.

When Mother and Dad were married, he was employed by the Missouri Pacific Railroad as a Bridge Foreman. The job required him to be away from home much of the time. Mother soon persuaded him that he could do just as well, financially, to leave the railroad and become an independent builder. His first contract was for the renovation of a store building in that little Missouri town where he had been born and had grown up. It was a small job, but it was successful. Dad made a satisfactory profit, the work was well done, and the store owner was happy. From that humble beginning, Father went on to the building of houses and, finally, public buildings. At one time, he was listed by Dunn and Bradstreet. He also worked as a construction foreman for two nationally-known contractors: Stone and Webster and the Crisp Construction Company. During World War II, he was a Construction Supervisor at the Tennessee Eastman Company in Kingsport, Tennessee.

Dad lived in an age when a line was drawn between man's work and woman's work, and he adhered strictly to that line. While we were growing up, I can never remember seeing him cook, wash the dishes, or clean the house. After he retired, however, he was happy to cook his own breakfast so Mother could sleep a little later. He was always an early riser.

When his only grandson, Bruce III, was born in Cheyenne, Wyoming in 1953, Mother and Dad left their home in Sarasota, Florida and travelled by car to their home in Cape Girardeau, Missouri. There they boarded a train for Cheyenne. While Mother helped to cope with baby problems, Dad did much of the cooking and kept the house spotless. He was so pleased about his new grandson! Perhaps that explains why he consented to wear an apron, sometimes, while he was on duty in the kitchen.

In his leisure time, Dad planned a special cradle to hold the baby's bassinette. Back in his Florida home, he built the cradle. He then, disassembled it, drew a diagram, wrote detailed instructions for assembling; then shipped the pieces to his son-in-law. (Today, the cradle is stored in a safe place. The "baby" is thirty-one years old.)

After their three children had grown up and left home, Mother and Dad continued to keep two homes - one in Cape Girardeau, Missouri and the other in Sarasota, Florida. They enjoyed their trips back and forth, spending winters in the South and summers in the Midwest. Dad really loved the Florida home better. Besides taking long and short trips with Mother, he worked in the yard much of his time, had almost daily visits with his son and family who lived across the city, watched certain TV programs, visited with his neighbors, and sat on the screened back-porch listening to ball games on his transistor radio. He also spent leisure time at his drawing board - drafting plans which he knew he would never use.

There was a camaraderie between him and his son, but it was his younger daughter, Frances, who always had first place in his heart. No one acquainted with the family would ever need ask why: for this daughter did such thoughtful, kind, and generous things for both her parents all her life. She did the things that afforded them so much happiness and contentment.

After a long and painful illness, Father died on 4 March 1966, in Sarasota, Florida. He had lived 79 years and almost 7 months. A few years later, his grandson, Bruce III, said, "I will always be glad that I knew Grandfather. He never pretended to be anything other than what he was, honest, plain-spoken, and straightforward. When I am disillusioned and disappointed by the insincerity of some people, I remember Grandfather, and it is comforting to know that there are also people in the world like him.

Elmer Townsend Hines, son of O. L. and Cynthia, served in the Army Air Corps in the Asiatic Pacific Theater during World War II. He enlisted 22 November 1942, trained at St. Petersburg, Florida; Buckley Field, Colorado; and Kerns, Utah. T/Sgt Hines was an armament technician assigned to the 431st Fighter Squadron, 475th Fighter Group, Fifth Air Force Command. He served briefly under Captain Nichols, son of Oklahoma's United States Senator. He then served under Major McGuire, second leading Ace in all the Southwest Pacific.

The 475th Fighter Group was the first to assemble overseas. The group was formed in Brisbane, Australia and included three fighter squadrons. It provided protection for heavy bombers operating from nearby island bases. Elmer's first duty was at Port Moresby, New Guinea. This was followed by assignments to Finsch Hafen, Eastern New Guinea; the Kiriwina Islands, off New Guinea; Hollandia, Dutch New Guinea; Biak Island, off Dutch New Guinea, on the equator; Leyte, Luzon and Aguar in the Philippines; Okinawa, Japan, Inchon and Seoul, Korea.

Sergeant Hines participated in six major campaigns: New Guinea, Southern Philippine Islands, Luzon, Bismark Archipelago, Northern Solomons and the Western Pacific. He was awarded six bronze stars, Presidential Citation with Oak Leaf Cluster, the Good Conduct Medal and Liberation Ribbons of the Southwest Pacific, the Philippines, and the Asiatic Pacific.

While on duty at Biak Island, Sergeant Hines volunteered many extra hours working in the Field Hospital which was located across the road from his barracks. He was discharged at Jefferson Barracks, St. Louis, Missouri 13 December 1945, having served two years, six months and one day overseas.

NOTES

1. When Martha Tuggle married Henry Hines in 1847, she gave her age as 20 years. According to the census, she was 35 years of age in 1850. Jasper King, age 12, was living in the household of Henry and Martha in 1850.

2. In 1870 Henry Hines was in the household of Wesley and Lucinda Hines. His age was shown as 50 years.

3. The Tax lists of Henry County, Tennessee show the following: (Code: a. acres; p. poll; s. slave(s), R Range, and S Section)

1827		1831
JOSIAH ASKEW	875 a.	JOSEPH HINES	1 p., 2 s.

JOHN HINDS	1 p.	JOSEPH HINES	70 a., 1 p. 2 s.

In 1835, Peter Hines was shown as 30 acres only. The fact that no polls were shown for him may indicate that he was 50 years of age in 1835. The list for 1835: PETER HINES 30 a.
JOSEPH HINES 1 p., 3 s.

4. Peter Hines sold his land to Beverly Shankle (HENRY COUNTY, TENNESSEE RECORDS: Deed Book F, (1837-1841), p. 132).

5. Henry County derived its name from Patrick Henry. It lies on the dividing ridge between the Tennessee and Mississippi Rivers. It is bounded on the north by Kentucky, on the east by Stewart and Benton Counties, on the south by Carroll and on the west by Weakley County. The central and south eastern parts of the county are drained by the Big Sandy River and its tributaries. The settlement of Henry began in 1819.

6. Isaac Hines was born in Illinois c1819. He married Martha E. Spaulding 2 May 1847 in Independence County, Arkansas. She was born 1827/28 in Mississippi. She may have been a widow. In 1850 she and Isaac had in their household James M. Spaulding, 7 years of age, born in Arkansas.

It is believe that Isaac was not a son of Peter and Ursula; although they did have two males in the 10-15 years age-bracket of the 1830 Census. In 1840 he is not in that household. He was born in Illinois.

There are two other noteworthy facts: Isaac and Henry were married on the same day and each married a Martha. In 1850 the family living next-door to Sarah (Hines) Allen was John and Jane Conor (Conon?).

Although she and her husband were born in Georgia, their first child was born in Illinois c1835. Could the census enumerator have been inaccurate about Jane's place of birth? Jane was born c1813. There was the following Hines record in Illinois:

1 M 45 &+

Furthermore, in 1850 Jane lived next door to the Wesley Hines family. Jane and John had a son, Isaac, who was born in 1845 in Arkansas.

7. It is believed that Peter Hines was born c1785. The tax record indicates that 1835 was his first year of not paying the poll tax.

Names of the Peter Hines family obtained from the 1850 US Census, Independence County, Arkansas have been assigned to the age-brackets shown in the above 1830 US Census record of Henry County, Tennessee. The second son in the 10-15 years age-bracket marked by (*) has not been determined.

9. By 1840, the Hines families had migrated to Arkansas. US Census Records for 1840 and for 1850 show them to have been in Independence County, Blackwater Township. Extracts from these records follow:

Possibility: Westly may have been the oldest son of Aaron Allen.

NOTE: In the 1850 Census, William Allen and Sarah had in their household Abraham Allen - 21, born in Tennessee. It is possible, but not proved, that he was the oldest son at home in 1840 in the household of Abram Allen.

WALLEN - GRIDER FAMILIES

Julia Ann, daughter of Elisha and Mary (Hughes) Wallen, married Christopher Columbus Grider 16 March 1854. They resided in Randolph Township, St. Francois County, Missouri from the time of their marriage until sometime in the 1870's when the family moved to Kansas.

US Census Records for 1870-Randolph Township, St. Francois County, Missouri indicate that Julia Ann was head of her household at that time with Mary N., 15; Rachel A., 9; and Susan A., 6 living with their mother. According to Grider family historians, Christopher C. and two of his brothers had gone West about that time.

In 1872 Thomas Grider, father of Christopher C., died. He left a will in the Office of the Probate Court of St. Francois County. The will stipulated that Rachel Grider, wife of Thomas, and Fields Grider, son, be appointed executors of his estate. Rachel and Fields declined to serve and requested Christopher C. to serve in their place. Thus, it is assumed that Christopher returned to Missouri about 1872.

On 2 April 1880 Christopher and Julia Ann sold a lot "on Main Street" in Grenola, Elk County, Kansas. At the time, their place of residence was at Cedar Vale, Chautauqua County, Kansas. The 1880 US Census - Jefferson Township, Chautauqua County, Kansas established that Christopher, Julia Ann, Rachel and Tom were together as a family: Page 13:

GRIDER,	Christopher	46	MO	SC	PA*	(*All other Census
	Julia	45	MO	TN	TN	records show that
	Rachel	18	MO	MO	MO	Rachel Grider was
	Tom	6	MO	MO	MO	born in Tennessee.)

The only exact date of birth known for these Grider children is that of Rachel: (28 Dec 1860).

Very little is known about this family after 1880. It is assumed that Julia and Christopher died in Kansas.

Christopher Columbus Grider was the son of Thomas and Rachel (Tullock) Grider. Thomas was born 1 January 1799 in South Carolina and Rachel was born in Tennessee 26 October 1807.

Ruth (Farr) Grider, widow of Lee Grider, told how she came into possession of the following family record. Harry L., son of Fields Ralph Grider, had lived alone for quite some time before he moved from his farm to Bismarck. There he lived with his daughter for several years before he died. During the time he lived in town, his farm home was burglarized. Later, Ruth found the pages from the Bible lying on the front lawn. Today, the Bible is in the home of Mrs. John Simms (Mary Belle Grider). Her father, Harry L.

Grider, had taken the Family Bible with him when he went to live with his daughter.

THE YATES FAMILY

In a book, YATES FINDINGS, published by William A. Yates in 1972 may be found excerpts from letters written by T. C. Adams, Sheridan, Illinois. He was the husband of Lillie Yates, granddaughter of Elisha and Mary (Hughes) Wallen.

Lillie's mother was Susannah Wallen who married Richard Yates, son of Nicholas, Sr.

In the letters written by Mr. Adams to the Washington County, Arkansas Historical Society, he tells of visiting the old graveyard where "Great Grandfather Nicholas Yates" is buried; that his tombstone reads:

In Memory of Grandpa
NICHOLAS YATES
Died
Nov. 28, 1873
Age 83 years

"It must have been about 1838 or 1839 that two young men left Washington County, Arkansas and went to Washington and St. Francois Counties, Missouri. One of these was Nicholas Yates who was born 9 October 1820. He married Synthian Hughes on 17 June 1841. The other was Richard Yates, who was born in Tennessee 12 April 1816. He married Susanna Wallen 1 September, 1842."

The record is that Nicholas Yates and his wife, Sarah Hayes, had 15 children - all born in East Tennessee, probably in Greene County. The first known record of Nicholas Yates in East Tennessee was of his induction into the army on January 10, 1814. His age would have been 24 years at the time. It is possible that Nicholas Yates was given a land grant in Arkansas for his service in the War of 1812.

The next day she was back at her spinning wheel. Polly Ann's father was Wiley (Buttermilk) Woods.

OBITUARY OF OPAL WALLEN TEDDER

The sad news reached here on Thursday that Opal Wallen Tedder, 77, died about 4 A.M. May 13, of a heart attack after a few days back in Missouri Baptist Hospital. She had been unwell for some time and was living with daughter, Dean Mallow, in the city for the past couple months or so. Visitation was at Brittons in Potosi Friday P.M. and night, with funeral at 2 P.M. Saturday at the Belgrade U. M. Church. After burial in our new Church Cemetery, a dinner was served for the family, relatives and close friends in the church hall. Opal was so well known here, having lived most of her life in this area and will be greatly missed by all who loved and respected her. After death of her husband, Jess Tedder, she worked several years in the kitchen of Washington County Hospital and lived just east of town near home of daughters Dean and Doris, two sons, Leonard and Wayne Tedder, their families, also family of Lester Tedder, who died a few years ago. She also had a sister, Ora McGee of Leadwood, two brothers Floyd Wallen of Huzzah and Cleo Wallen of Desloge, and many other relatives. Our deep sympathy is extended to all.

Some of the relatives who have been at home of Doris and Howard Brooks during the weekend include their three daughters - Nancy and Terry Cliff and three children from Kansas City area; Janice Stricklin and two sons, Ft. Belvoir, Va.: Joyce and Glen Land, two children, St. Charles Co.; Leonard and Marie Tedder, Muskegon, Michigan; their daughter Mary Lou and Joe Weber, St. Charles Co.; Wayne and Eunice Tedder and young twins, St. Louis; also, son Robert and Mary Tedder, and daughter, Julie Pacheco and a friend. Dean Mallow will stay on this week before returning to her work in office for the St. Louis Symphony. A close friend, Genevieve Richardson came for weekend with her.

THE SHERRILL FAMILY

ADAM SHERRILL, who was born in 1700 and died in 1788, was the son of WILLIAM SHERRILL.

WILLIAM SHERRILL was born in 1680. The Preston Papers in possession of The State Historical Society of Wisconsin contain copies of the Muster Rolls of Augusta County, Virginia. These lists were published in CHRONICLES OF THE SCOTCH-IRISH SETTLEMENT IN VIRGINIA by Lyman Chalkley. In Volume II, p. 509 are the names WILLIAM SHERRILL and ADAM SHERRILL. They are on the muster roll of Captain Peter Shoull. The date of the muster rolls has been fixed at 1742. These two Sherrill grandfathers were among the colonial soldiers of Virginia and, doubtless, saw service in the French and Indian War.

ADAM SHERRIL was the father of URIAH SHERRILL who was born on 1 March 1728. Uriah died in South Carolina on 27 November 1779. His wife was Judith Lewis whom he married on 25 December 1753. She was born 10 February 1735 and died in South Carolina on 27 September 1815.

LEWIS SHERRILL was the son of URIAH. Lewis was born on 14 April 1761 in Burke County, North Carolina. He died at Anderson, South Carolina on 16 December 1840. LEWIS SHERRILL married Mary Mason on 27 February 1783. She was born in Burke County, North Carolina on 23 February 1766. She died at Anderson, South Carolina on 22 December 1840.

LEWIS and MARY SHERRILL were the parents of twelve children:

1. SHERRILL, John (b. 10 May 1784; m. _____ Halbert).
2. SHERRILL, Uriah (Ute) (b. 17 Nov 1785; d. 1797).
3. SHERRILL, David (b. 25 Jan 1788; m. Mary Guyton).
4. SHERRILL, Eleanor (b. Mar, 1789; m. Daniel Campbell).
5. SHERRILL, Judith (b. 17 Jun 1791; m. _____ Lewis).
6. SHERRILL, Rachel (b. 29 Nov 1793; m. Alexander Moorehead).
7. SHERRILL, Ruana (b. 22 Feb 1796; m. Thomas Crow).
8. SHERRILL, Henry Mason (b. 25 Feb 1797; d. 10 Sep 1802).
9. SHERRILL, Mary Mason (b. 1799; m. Thomas D. Matthews).
10 SHERRILL, Esther Amanda (b. 21 Dec 1802; m. Daniel Cullins).
11 SHERRILL, Lewis, Jr. (b. 5 Jul 1805; m. Mahala Dickerson).
12 SHERRILL, Anna Cole (b. 17 Dec 1807; m. Joseph Jolly).

LEWIS SHERRILL, SR. served in the American Revolution under Captains Smith and Lenettis, Colonels Brevard and McDowell. He was with McDowell's Burke County Boys in the Battle of King's Mountain. An affidavit of LEWIS SHERRILL, SR. certifying to his service is on file at the court house, Anderson, South Carolina.

JOHN SHERRILL, eldest son of LEWIS SHERRILL, SR., migrated with his family to Missouri in 1818. They settled first in that territory which in 1821 became St. Francois County. In 1831 the family moved to Licking, Missouri where John died shortly before the Civil War.

The children of JOHN SHERRILL and his wife, _____ (Halbert) SHERRILL were: JOEL SHERRILL, born 23 January 1815; EWELL SHERRILL; and FRANKIE SHERRILL. Joel was born in Anderson District, South Carolina and was three years of age when the family arrived in Missouri. On 2 October 1836, he married Jane Thornton. He was a prominent businessman in Missouri's early days, and the town of Sherrill in Texas County was named in his honor. He died 8 September 1896.

EWELL SHERRILL had two children: James B. and William H. Ewell died in August, 1855. This family lived at Licking, Texas County, Missouri.

"FRANKIE" SHERRILL, daughter of JOHN SHERRILL and his wife, _____ (Halbert) SHERRILL, married Eli Halbert 29 April 1829. They lived in Texas County, Missouri. Frankie died about 1875.

DAVID SHERRILL, third son of LEWIS SHERRILL, SR., and his wife, Mary, migrated to St. Francois County, Missouri from Hall County, Georgia in 1838. Their children were:

1. PINCKNEY SHERRILL. He was a soldier in the Seminole War and a farmer by occupation. He lived to be 75 years of age. Pinckney never married.
2. AARON L. SHERRILL. His family is recorded in the MARY WALLEN RECORD.
3. DELAFAYETTE GUYTON SHERRILL. His family is recorded in the EMALINE WALLEN RECORD.
4. ELIZABETH (Betsy) A. SHERRILL. She was born c1826 in Georgia. She married John W. Cooley 29 September 1842. He was born 1814 in South Carolina. He died p1860. Their children were:

   d. COOLEY, Ellen (b. 1858).
   e. COOLEY, Samuel (b. Aug, 1862; m. Mary E. Garrett, daughter of Eliza E. Proffitt and L. J. Garrett). Mary Elizabeth Garrett was the granddaughter of Eliza (Wallen) Proffitt and the great-granddaughter of ELISHA and MARY (HUGHES) WALLEN.

The 1900 US Census, Iron Township, St. Francois County, Missouri, shows that Samuel and Mary Elizabeth (Garrett) Cooley were living in the household of Samuel's brother, George Cooley, who was not married. The Samuel Cooleys had the following children:

(1) COOLEY, Carlisle (b. Feb 1894).
(2) COOLEY, Owen (b. Mar, 1896).

(5) COOLEY, Ellen (b. p1900 Census).
(6) COOLEY, Adele (b. p1900 Census; d. 1918).
(7) COOLEY, Doris (b. p1900 Census).

Mary Elizabeth (Garrett) Cooley was born in January, 1867 according to the 1900 Census. The Cooley Record, however, lists her date of birth as 23 January 1876. The date of her death is 9 April 1954.

FRANCES E. TULLOCK

PIONEER CITIZEN PASSES AWAY

One of the pioneer citizens of this community, and one of the oldest in Southeast Missouri passed away in the death of Grandma Tullock, aged 94 years, 1 month and 17 days, which occurred at 6:30 o'clock Monday evening at the home of her son, John Henry Tullock of Walnut Grove. Pleurisy was the direct cause of her death.

Frances E. Tullock was born in Iron Mountain in November, 1825. She resided there with her parents until she had grown into womanhood when the family moved south of Ironton.

While there she was wooed and won by Samuel Tullock. The young couple moved to what is known as the old Tullock homestead, four miles east of Bismarck, residing there for years. Six children, three sons and three daughters came to bless this union - the husband dying in 1863, and three children preceded her to the grave.

The surviving children are Nancy Jane Wallen, of near Bismarck, John Henry Tullock of Walnut Grove and James T. Tullock of Arizona.

For a number of years the deceased made her home in this city with her son, Christopher Tullock, deceased, but for the last eleven years she has resided with her son, John Henry Tullock of Walnut Grove.

After a long, busy and useful life, she died as she had lived - honored, trusted and loved. She reared her own monument while she lived in the hearts of all who knew her. Her life was completed if work all done and well done constitutes completion. Her Christian life was beautiful from its beginning to its close, and through all vicissitudes and sorrows that she met in the way, her faith in God, never wavered. But she has left us and today the leaves fall upon another grave that hides from our sight all that is mortal of a true and noble woman.

Funeral services were conducted at the residence Wednesday afternoon at 1 o'clock by the Rev. Wm. England, pastor of the Baptist church. Interment was in the Hamilton cemetery.

Our sincere sympathy is extended to the bereaved children.

Frances E. (Haynes) Tullock

"There shall be no night there."

Frances E. Haynes Tullock, the subject of this sketch, was born in Missouri, on the sixth day of November 1825. She passed on to her reward on the 22nd day of Dec., 1919. She lived far beyond the usual span of earthly life, being ninety-four years, one month and sixteen days of age. She was married to Samuel Tullock, the oldest son of Henry Tullock, just after her twentieth year. The young couple settled on a farm about five miles southeast of the present town of Bismarck amid the ragged hills and forests of the spurs of the Ozark mountains. There they toiled together, and to them were born six children, three of whom survive her, to wit: Nancy Jane Wallen, John Henry Tullock and James Thomas Tullock: the other three, Julia Matkin, Elizabeth Lucas and Christopher Tullock, died several years ago. In addition to her children mentioned, she leaves twenty-four grandchildren and thirty-two great grandchildren, also one sister, Mrs. Green Pratt, of near Arcadia.

Her husband went south with the army in the Civil War and died somewhere in Arkansas in 1862. Aunt Frances lived fifty-seven years a widow, a remarkable experience. She had been in poor health for eleven years and for the last twenty-five years was totally blind. The last years of her life she lived with her son, John Henry Tullock and his family on a farm near Bismarck. Spending the evening of her long life amidst most beautiful surroundings, close to her God and numerous friends, she fought the good fight, kept the faith, and finished her course. Never was old age more tenderly nurtured than was it the good fortune of our dear old aunt to receive from the family, each of whom administered to her wants with love and tenderness noted by all who were their neighbors. Early in life she professed hope in Christ and was a member of the Baptist church, serving her Savior and trusting in her God with the faithful obedience of a dutiful child. The funeral services were held at the home on the 24th day of December, 1919, conducted by Rev. Wm. England, pastor of the Baptist church at Bismarck, assisted by a choir of singers. The worn and tired body was tenderly laid to rest in the old graveyard near the home where she spent her last years - the resting place of so many of the Tullock family.

Thus has gone out from us a beautiful life whose great desire was that others might be happy. The briefest thought must be, "there died a good woman."

"Blessed are they that do His Commandments, that they may have the right to the tree of Life and may enter in through the gates into the city."

CLAY D. WALLEN
Son of Dr. Firman and Lillie (Grenia) Wallen

In October, 1934, Clay D. Wallen left the farm at Bismarck, Missouri and joined the US Navy; entering Boot Training Camp in San Diego, California on his 19th birthday. Boot camp lasted for three full months in those days.

Upon completion of Boot Training, Clay was transferred to the fleet, being assigned to the USS Whitney, a destroyer tender. He served on the Whitney and on the Staff of Commander, Destroyer Squadron One (ComDesRonOne) that was using the Whitney as the flagship. ComDesRonOne was commanded by Commodore Isaac Kidd. The staff of ComDesRonOne was abolished and Clay again became a member of the ship's company of the Whitney.

This combined period of duty lasted for five years. During this period, Clay had progressed through the promotional scale to First Class Petty Officer. He then was transferred to the USS Dobin, another destroyer tender, for a short period, after which he was transferred to the USS MacDonough, a destroyer. He was discharged from the Navy from that vessel upon completion of six years of service. He received an honorable discharge.

Clay returned to Bismarck, Missouri with the full intention of entering college to become a Dentist. The University of Missouri was not too encouraging as the expenses were rather high at that time. After an interlude of 89 days, and with the threat of the US getting involved in World War II, Clay reentered the US Naval Service.

He was sent to the Naval Receiving Center in Norfolk, Virginia and was ultimately assigned to the USS Sapphire, a converted yacht that belonged to Major Bowes at one time. Clay was promoted to Chief Petty Officer and, finally, temporarily commissioned an Ensign in the United States Navy on that vessel. He was then ordered to duty on a troop transport, the USS Chilton, APA 38. He performed the duties of Hip's Clerk and Watch Officer.

The Chilton was assigned to the Pacific Fleet; sent south, through the Panama Canal, and up to San Diego, California where it took on a company of US Marines and their equipment. It then headed out to the war zone. The ship stopped at Pearl Harbor to go through some landing exercises for training purposes before heading for the Philippines.

The Chilton was with the first contingent of vessels to arrive at Okinawa and was there for one week before the invasion began. It was there that Ernie Pyle, the noted war correspondent, lost his life.

The Chilton deployed to sea during the day and returned to the protection of the harbor during the night. Finally, the Kamikazes came and the war on land and at sea intensified. One day, Clay recalls, while going on deployment a group of Kamikazes came over and either dropped bombs or flew their planes into the ships.

The Chilton was hit and Clay recalls picking up pieces of aluminum where the plane just skimmed over and fell into the sea, fifty feet from the vessel, where it exploded. He was on watch in the Communications Room at the time and that room was located on the top-most part of the ship. His guardian angel was surely with him that day!

The ship directly behind the Chilton, the USS Henrico, was hit in the bridge section, killing the Captain and several officers and crew members. Many other ships were mangled by bombs from the Kamikazes that morning. The Chilton landed her troops on the day of the invasion and the intensity of the war increased.

The Chilton continued to deploy by day and return at night to the harbor. The crew could stand on the top deck and watch the land war being waged fiercely on the beach. About four months after the invasion began, the Chilton loaded up with sick and wounded and returned to San Francisco.

While in San Francisco, Clay received orders to leave the ship and proceed to Pier 92, in New York City where his wife and little daughter joined him six weeks later. He was at Pier 92 for about ten months. There he recieved orders to go to Adak, Alaska on the Aleutian Islands Chain. His wife and daughter were able to join him there.

After serving an extended tour and working at many tasks, Clay requested his Commanding Officer to send a dispatch to the Naval Detailing Section in Washington, D. C. for a relief; the reply was, "There is no one in the Navy qualified to relieve him."

Five or six months later when a relief was ordered, Clay was reassigned to the staff of the Commander, Western Sea Frontier for duty. The staff was stationed on Treasure Island. Clay performed the duties of Assistant Fleet Personnel Officer, providing enlisted personnel to the Pacific Ocean Area ships and bases. He held this assignment for thirty-five months.

Clay next saw duty in Port Lyaute, French Morocco, in North Africa. He performed the duties of Civilian Personnel Officer and BOQ Officer until he received emergency orders to Washington, D. C. There, he was assigned to the Recruiting Division of the Bureau of Naval Personnel. While in Africa, Clay's son had been diagnosed by the doctors at the Army Hospital in Frankfort, Germany as having muscular dystrophy, thus the need for emergency orders. Later, at the Bethesda Naval Hospital, Clay's son was diagnosed as being a victim of cerebral palsy, due to an injury at birth.

Clay served in the Bureau of Naval Personnel for over five years prior to his retirement from the Navy on 1 August 1957. He had completed 23 years of service and retired in the permanent grade of Lieutenant Commander.

Prior to his retirement, Clay had attended the Northern Extension of the University of Virginia in Arlington. Upon retirement, he moved to Colorado Springs, Colorado to attend Colorado College as a full-time student.

Clay's son could not cope with the weather in Colorado, so Clay moved his family to Chico, California. He attended the Chico State College (now University), obtaining a BA degree in Business Education in 1961 and a Masters Degree from Chico State in June, 1966.

Clay was fortunate in obtaining a teaching job in the Secondary School system of Chico and did not have to move his family again. He taught Business Education at the Junior High School level for fifteen years before retiring for the second and last time in June, 1976.

NOTES:

1. Joseph Walling received his first land grant on the north side of the Clinch River, 1787, in that part of Sullivan County which later became Hawkins County, Tennessee.
2. Some family historians have recorded that Rosamond was born 22 February 1780.
3. Daniel Weddle was the son of John who in 1782 received a North Carolina land grant (#270). The land was located on Horse Creek on the south side of the Nolachucky River, near the Wautauga area.

Thomas and Daniel were sons of John Weddle.

Thomas married Rosamond; Daniel married Mary. They were daughters of Joseph and Milly (Jones) Walling; therefore, the Weddle brothers married Walling/Wallen sisters.

4. Thomas Weddle and Rosamond had a son Daniel Weddle born 22 July 1801 in Scott County, Virginia. He married Elizabeth Weddle, his cousin.

13. Data for this Family Group was prepared in chart form by Kenneth E. Walden (N.6, supra) who in a note appearing on the chart dated 13 June 1971 wrote:

> Henry P. Wallen (1820-1896), son of Joseph B. Walling, with his wife and two small children left Kyles Ford, Tennessee in 1850 and settled near what is now Washburn, Missouri. Also moving in the group were his parents, brothers, sisters and some friends.
> Henry soon moved across the Arkansas line and settled on Butler Creek some 4 miles north of Beaver, Arkansas. Due to his age, his military service in the Civil War was limited to a few months in the Missouri state militia. In contrast, however, his four younger brothers served with the Confederacy most of the war.

ELIJAH HERD

Elijah Herd was born about 1779 in Virginia and died in Hancock County, Tennessee in the 1860's. Much research has not disclosed the names of his parents nor where in Virginia he was born.

Elijah lived in a section of Hawkins County, Tennessee that later became Hancock County when that county was formed in 1844. That he lived on land owned by William Walling, Sr. is almost a certainty. There is a record in Hawkins County, Tennessee - a document under date of 2 September 1831 - that says: William Walling, Sr. to William Walling, Elijah Herd and Jesse Herd, for good will, favor and affection, and for maintenance of the said William Walling, Sr. during his lifetime; 640 acres in Hawkins County, Tennessee, on the south side of Clinch River, including the improvement whereon the said William Walling, Jr., Elijah and Jesse Herd now live. Conditional lines already drawn.

One can only assume from the above that Elijah and Jesse Herd had married daughters of William Walling, Sr. The 1850 census gives Mary as the name of the wife of Elijah and Milla as that of the wife of Jesse.

The section of Hancock County in which they lived was, and is known as Wallen's Bend, the name coming, no doubt, from the fact that the Walling property was located in a huge bend made by the Clinch River.

Elijah and Mary Herd had ten children, eight sons and two daughters. From various records the names of the sons have been determined but the names of the daughters have not been learned with any certainty.

It is said that the fiancee of Wallen Herd was the first to be buried in the cemetery located in back of the old George G. Herd home and this was done at the request of Wallen. There are no inscribed markers at either grave so it is unknown exactly when they died. The old family Bible of George G. and Phoebe records the birth of all their children, and their deaths with the exception of Lucy and Wallen.

Daniel B. Hurd, youngest child of George and Phoebe, married Sarah E. Bowen, daughter of Enoch S. and Martha Jane (Walling) Bowen, 14 January 1876. They had two daughters, Florence and Elizabeth. Daniel died of TB on 30 December 1879 and his wife died a little more than a year later, of typhoid fever. The two little girls were raised by their grandmother, Phoebe. George G. Herd died 28 August 1882 while the children were still quite small.

Florence Hurd married Alexander John Stout, son of Abraham A. and Martha (Cooper) Stout, 18 November 1894. Florence inherited the home of her grandparents, George G. and Phoebe Herd. Betty, sister of Florence, inherited another portion. Although there are no deeds to prove it, it is possible that the property had already been divided between Elijah B. and Daniel B., the two surviving sons of George G. (Lucy, sister of Elijah and Daniel, had received a farm from her father, previously.)

Lucy's date of death is not known; however, when her mother, Phoebe Herd, died 26 September 1894, it is possible that she was survived by only one of her eight children, Elijah B. Hurd.

The farm is now owned by George W. Stout, youngest child of Alex and Florence Stout. He and his family live in the old log house built by George G. Herd. Additions have been built to it and the logs have been covered by shingles but it is still standing after more than 140 years.

The names of the eight sons of Elijah and Mary Herd and the girls they married follow:

1. HERD, George G.	m. Phoebe Bloomer.
2. HERD, Jesse	m. _____ _____.
	m. Malinda (Kyle) Eidson.
3. HERD, Carter	m. Anna Hartley.
4. HERD, James E.

6. HERD, Thomas E.	m. Sarah Berten.
7. HERD, Elijah K.	m. Polly Pridemore.
8. HERD, Joseph	m. Ann _____.

George G. Herd and Phoebe Bloomer, daughter of Daniel and Lucy Bloomer, were married 12 January 1829. They bought property and established their home about three miles up-river from Wallen's Bend. Their children were:

1. HERD, Lucy	m. Josiah Delp.
2. HERD, Canan.

8. HERD, Daniel B.	m. Sarah Bowen.

Of these children Canon, Carter and Anderson died in infancy. Elen (pronounced as eland without the d), and Wallen died during the Civil War. Elen died of pneumonia in a prisoner-of-war camp and Wallen was shot by a bushwhacker as he was returning to his company after being home on leave. He was shot near Flat Rock, Virginia only a few miles up-river from his home. His mother heard of his being wounded so she went to where he was being cared for and nursed him until he died; she then brought him down the river in a boat and buried him beside his fiancee who had died before they could be married.

More than a century has gone by and the cemetery that was started about the time of the Civil War has seen more than seventy persons laid to rest there. Not all, but most of them are connected in one way or another to the descendants of George G. and Phoebe Hurd. Here, I have five sets of grandparents awaiting the Resurrection morning, namely:

George G. Herd (26 Jan 1807 - 28 Aug 1882).
Phoebe Herd (25 Dec 1811 - 26 Sep 1894).

Daniel B. Hurd (12 May 1851 - 30 Dec 1879).
Sarah E. Hurd (c1857 - c1881).

Abraham A. Stout (23 Jan 1826 - 26 Apr 1906).
Martha Stout (c1835 - 31 Jan 1922).

Alexander J. Stout (20 Mar 1869 - 31 Aug 1957).
Florence Stout (7 Dec 1876 - 24 Jan 1950).

Rev. Enoch S. Bowen (9 Jun 1838 - 9 Nov 1910).
Jane Bowen (11 Dec 1837 - 4 Nov 1930).

*(Notes by Jean K. Horton)

ELISHA WALLEN
(1760/62 - 1852)

Elisha Wallen was born in that part of Pittsylvania County, Virginia which in 1776/77 became Henry County. In his Revolutionary War pension application, he traced the migration of his parents from counties in Virginia to East Tennessee and into Kentucky.[1] A careful study of the pension application reveals that Elisha referred to the place of his birth as Henry County because, in 1838, that was the correct name for the area. He was born 6 March 1760/62. That was prior to the formation of Henry County from a part of Pittsylvania. The family moved from that area to Washington County, Virginia when he was a boy. After the war he settled at a place called Rocky Station, "now Lee County, Virginia." He further stated that he lived there four years. The age of his daughter, Lucy (1850 Census) indicates that Elisha, his wife, and his older children were living in Virginia in 1794. In his "Deed of Gift" to his children, Elisha mentions: Mary Sims, Agnes Murry, Winney Davis, Lucy Wallen, Caty Wallen, Judith Wallen, William Wallen, and Elisha Wallen.[2] It can be assumed, then, that Mary, Agnes and Winney also had been born in Virginia - probably in Lee County.

Russell County, Virginia was formed from Washington County in 1786, and the first court had convened in Castle's Woods on 9 May 1786. All of the earliest records of the Russell County court were destroyed by fire. Only the personal property tax lists are extant. They are to be found in the Virginia Archives, Richmond. This tax was paid by all males 21 or over. Thomas and Stephen Wallen were living in the area on 9 December 1785 when they signed the petition requesting the formation of Russell County. In 1787 Stephen Wallen was listed, "1 tithe" and Thomas, "0 tithe," which probably meant that Thomas was over 50 years of age. The following year (1788), Elisha, Thomas, and Stephen each had "1 tithe." This is interpreted to indicate that the older Thomas had moved from the area, and a younger Thomas had been added to the list. In 1790, 1792, and 1793 only Elisha and the younger Thomas were listed. Evidently, Stephen had also left the county.[3]

Where the Elisha Wallen family resided between 1794-1799 is not clear. His name was not on the Lee County Tax List in 1795. In 1799 the name of Elisha Wallen, Sr. and Elisha Wallen, Jr. were on the tax list of Grainger County, Tennessee.[4]

The names of Elisha and Thomas appear in the following entries extracted from the Minutes of the Court of Pleas and Quarter Sessions (Vol. I: 1796-1802) of Grainger County:

Page 78: (22 November 1798) Ordered that Elisha Walling receive fifteen dollars from the Trustee of this Court for the use of WILLIAM COX who is now under his care as one of the poor.

Page 107: (23 August 1799) Ordered by the Court that Scrifaciase do and be made known to ELISHA WALDING to appear at our next Court to answer charge exhibited against him for Thomas Walding by his wife to account for money drawn by him for the use of the poor.

Page 108: (23 August 1799) Thomas Walding consent to provide WILLIAM COX, an aged and infirm man without the means of support with the necessary comforts of meat, drink, and lodging from the beginning of this term for one year for forty dollars in that proposition if he should remain with him the whole time. Therefore, ordered that the said Thomas Walding do receive from the Trustee of the County the above sum of forty dollars.

Page 112: (Third Monday in November, 1799) Ordered that Elisha Walding have leave to erect a grist mill on Goss Creek between the house of Thomas Walding and that of Hezekiah Jordan, which was accordingly granted.

Page 134: (20 February 1800) An account exhibited by Elisha Walding, signed by Thomas Walding, for sundry articles delivered for the use of WILLIAM COX one of the poor of said County to the amount of twenty dollars was proved in open court. Ordered to be filed.

Page 147: (Third Monday of August, 1800) Ordered by the Court that Thomas Walding take into custody and charge WILLIAM COX one of the poor of the County and support him and that the said Thomas Walding do receive the sum of fifty dollars per year to be paid quarterly by the Treasurer of the County.

Page 203: (19 August 1801) Ordered by the court that Thomas Walding take charge of WILLIAM COX a poor old infirm man rendered incapable of procuring the necessities of life for the term of one year for which he is to be allowed the sum of forty dollars to be paid out of the County Treasury in quarterly payments. Certificate issued for the whole sum to be paid in quarterly payments.

It was customary in those days for counties to pay a subsistence to elderly veterans of the Revolutionary War. The above entries suggest that William Cox may have been related to Elisha and Thomas Wallen.

Tax and land records of Claiborne County, Tennessee and Harlan County, Kentucky bear mute testimony to the restless nature of Elisha. Although he evidently preferred to live in Kentucky, he owned land and lived in Claiborne County, Tennessee at various times.

The census records show that Elisha Wallen was in Knox County, Kentucky in 1810; and, because he was not listed in the Kentucky census for 1820 and because Claiborne County records of that time were destroyed by fire it is assumed that he was living in Claiborne County in 1820. In 1830 he was enumerated in Harlan County, Kentucky; and in 1840 he was again in Claiborne County, Tennessee. According to pension application records, he lived in Kentucky about 40 years. In 1842, he moved to Warren County, Ohio.[5]

On 4 October 1814 ELISHA WALLEN and his wife ANNE deeded to Peter Piercefield for $200 a tract of land on the Cumberland River in Knox County, Kentucky.[6]

Among the Kentucky Land Office Warrants are two registered in the name of Elisha Wallen: Warrant #15842 for fifty acres in Harlan County on a fork of the Yellow Creek, dated 1 February 1826 and Warrant #1453 for fifty acres in Harlan County on a clear fork of Yellow Creek "where Wallen now lives," dated 25 February 1829; registered 25 August 1828.

Wallens appearing on the tax lists (1820-1840) of Harlan County, Kentucky are shown below. Harlan County was formed from Knox in 1819.[7]

Not a great deal of information about the children of Elisha and Anne is known today. The only marriage record extant is that of Winifred who married Moses Davis when their home was within the boundaries of Grainger County, Tennessee. They were married 26 January 1799.[8] The Tax list for Grainger County, 1797 shows Moses Davis as a taxpayer. He was also on the Grainger County list in 1799; then, Claiborne County in 1803 and White County, Tennessee, 1811.

An entry in the Grainger County Court Minute Book, dated the Second Monday of September, 1797: Mary Simms came into court to "administer on the estate of John Simms, deceased, was qualified, and gave bond and security, according to law."[9]

The names of the children of Mary and John Sims are given in a deed registered in Claiborne County in 1812:[10]

ABSTRACT OF DEED
Elisha Wallen to Mary Sims, et. al.
Claiborne County, Tennessee
Deed Book D - p. 6

To all people whom these presents may come I, ELISHA WALLIN of Claiborne County, Tennessee for and in consideration of the love and good will and affection which I have and do bear toward my loving daughter MARY SIMS, WILLIAM SIMS, JAMES SIMS, BARTLET SIMS, and ELISHA SIMS all of this county and state have given and granted and by these presents do give and grant freely the said MARY, WILLIAM, JAMES, BARTLET, AND ELISHA SIMS their heirs, etc. a certain tract of land lying and being in Powell Valley beginning . . .Signed with my own hand . . . to have and to hold all the said tract and premises unto the Said MARY SIMS, WM. SIMS, JAMES SIMS, BARTLET SIMS, ELISHA SIMS their heirs executors or administrators from henceforth of this land and tenants absolutely without any manner or conditions.

In witness whereof I have here put my hand and seal this Jan. 8, 1811.

ELISHA WALLIN (SEAL)

Witnesses:
John Wallin, Thos. Walter, Judy Williams

Registered Oct. 21, 1812: Wm. Rogers, Register

According to the P. G. Fulkerson manuscript, Agnes Wallen married Bennett Murry and Lucy Wallen married Joseph Williams.[11] There is reason to doubt the latter marriage. Lucy was in the household of her aged father in 1850 and was listed as Lucy Wallen. Perhaps Joseph Williams married Judith Wallen.

The most poignant and over-shadowing sadness in the years of Elisha's old age resulted from his determination to obtain a small pension for his service in the Revolutionary War. He enlisted at the age of 16 to serve as an Indian Spy whose duties involved protecting and guarding the frontier of Virginia against attacks from the Cherokee and Shawnee. The territory he helped defend covered a 150-mile area. What he did not tell in his several application papers was that his uncle, John Wallen, who also served in the war had lost his wife and nine of his children in an Indian attack. The Wallens knew, personally, the importance of maintaining an alert. Thomas and Mary (Cox) Wallen had to move from their settlement at one time, because of Indian attacks.

In 1983, the Wilders followed the guard-duty trail of Elisha Wallen, as he had described it:

> . . . from the ford of the Clinch River at the mouth of Stock Creek and thence to Rye Cove Station; then on to Rocky Station; in what was called Castle's Woods - to Martin's Station, Powell's Valley.

Elisha had served under Capt. James Gibson in Col. Arthur Campbell's Regiment. He was in the same company with Alexander Ritchie, William Condry and William Steward.

His final application for a pension was made in Warren County, Ohio in 1851. Each time, his claim was rejected on the basis of his not having served in a recognized military unit.

A letter from Marie Dickore, dated 4 November 1960 to Edwin R. Deats, Jersey City, New Jersey relates:

> Recently an abandoned graveyard in Warren County, Ohio near the Clermont County line was searched by DAR members who were hunting for old graves. The headstones of two adjoining graves had the following inscriptions:
> E. Wallen, died 1832, aet, 92 years
> Much of the inscription was illegible which leads one to conclude that the date probably was 1852. The other headstone was for:
> Anne Wallen
> Only her name was legible.

Knowing that Elisha, the Revolutionary War soldier was the only E. WALLEN in the 1850 Census of Warren County and knowing also, that Elisha's wife was ANNE, the Wilders have no doubt that the two stones, located by the DAR members, mark the burial place of Elisha and his wife, Anne Wallen.

Although the compilers are unaware of anyone who has traced a line of descent from Thomas and Mary (Cox) Wallen, it is their belief that Stephen, William, Elisha, and Thomas were sons of Thomas and Mary. Perhaps, someone someday will undertake this quest and experience the joy which comes from an acquaintance with a courageous, industrious and loyal American ancestor.

MATTHEW WALLEN AND HIS FAMILY

Matthew was born 1770/80, no doubt, in Virginia. His name first appears on the personal property tax lists of Lee County, Virginia in 1795; then, again, in 1809.

Matthew, like a number of other Wallens, moved back and forth between Tennessee and Kentucky. As has been mentioned in the sketch, "Elisha, the Long Hunter," Matthew Wallen once lived "on the west side of the Kentucky road" in Powell's Valley. However, most of his adult life was spent in Hawkins County, Tennessee and in Whitley County, Kentucky, close to the Tennessee border. In 1824, he sold his seventy-two acres of land in Hawkins County to David S. Rogers. The land was located on the south side of the Clinch River. It is interesting that this land transaction was not registered until 1838.

Matthew was enumerated in the 1830 Census of Whitley County, Kentucky but was not with his family in the 1840 Kentucky Census. The 1830 Census showed that Matthew's wife was no longer with her family. Did this family make its final move into Kentucky about 1824 when their land was sold to David Rogers? Did this happen because the mother died at that time?

The 1850 Census gives the place of birth for the sons and daughters of Matthew and his wife:

1. WALLEN, James — b. c1794 in Virginia.
2. WALLEN, Stephen — b. c1800 in Tennessee.
3. WALLEN, Elisha — b. c1805 in Kentucky.
4. WALLEN, John — b. c1809 in Tennessee.
5. WALLEN, Matthew — b. c1811 in Tennessee.
6. WALLEN, _____ (f) — b. c1800/10.
7. WALLEN, Milly — b. c1814 in Tennessee.

Matthew Wallen probably came into Tennessee from Lee County, Virginia soon after the birth of his first child, James. Later, he acquired the land on the south side of the Clinch River. His property adjoined that of William Hord, the old gentleman with whom the Long Hunter had engaged in many land dealings.

The first and only census record of Matthew Wallen is the 1830 enumeration, Whitley County, Kentucky:

From census records, it is clear that Matthew Wallen had a daughter, Milly; his son Elisha had a daughter, Milly, and a son, Matthew; his son James had a daughter, Milly. Perhaps, the wife of Matthew was also Milly.

The record of this family is a captivating one with the possibility that Matthew was a son of the Long Hunter. Its potential for a stirring pioneer story cannot be denied. It is a story which needs to be told by a descendant.

11. John Wallen, Sr. left a will in McMinn County, Tennessee. The will was dated 15 April 1836; proved 2 May 1836; to wife, Elizabeth. Witnesses: Joseph M. Alexander and John Miller (Will Book B).

12. John Walling's pension application was dated 3 June 1833. It stated in part: "Declarant lived in Wythe County, Virginia, when called into service; moved from the Holston to the Clinch River near the Flat Lick at which place declarant lived near forty years; from thence, he removed to Illinois; from thence, to Kentucky, Casey County; from thence, to McMinn County, Tennessee where he now resides and has done so for the last ten years."

13. The declaration for a widow's pension by Elizabeth (Roberts) Walling was dated 27 January 1844. In that document Elizabeth stated that she was 75 years of age; therefore, it may be assumed that her age as given on the 1850 Census is inaccurate.

14. Isaac Walling, Jane, his wife, and their family lived in Buncombe County, North Carolina according to the 1830 US Census. The 1840 and 1850 Census records show them to have been in McMinn County, Tennessee

Among the documents in the pension file of John Walling, McMinn County, Tennessee, is a letter from A. D. Hiller of the War Department Pension Office. It is dated 12 October 1938 and is a reply to an inquiry about John Walling's Revolutionary War Record. An excerpt from Mr. Hiller's letter is quoted below:

Mhw/Hbw

"In June 1844, JAMES WALLEN, aged seventy-four years and Mary, his wife, aged seventy-one years, were residents of Hawkins County, Tennessee. They were married March 3, 1791. He stated that he saw the people who came to the wedding of John Walling and Elizabeth and she stated that John Walling and his wife were present at their marriage in 1791. Joseph B. Wallen was the Justice of the Peace for Hawkins County, Tennessee before whom these affidavits were made in 1844. One ELISHA WALLIN or WALLEN, resided then in Scott County, Virginia, aged sixty-four years. He stated that he remembered the wedding of the soldier JOHN WALLING. In 1855, George McMurray was a resident of McMinn County, Tennessee, no relationship of any of the above mentioned persons to the soldier's family was stated."

1. It appears that John Walling, Jr. was the first member of this family who migrated to Texas. He arrived in 1883. Jesse entered the state in 1834; and Sentha Ann and her husband, James Bell, came in 1835.

2. John Walling, Sr., James, Thomas Jefferson, and Alfred Gaines appear to have arrived in Texas in 1836.

3. John Walling, Sr. was the son of James Walling (b. 27 Jul 1746 in Lunenburg Co., VA) and his wife, Mary. James died 28 March 1786. He was the son of Elisha Walling (b. 26 Jul 1708 in Cohansey, Salem Co., NJ).

4. James Walling, son of John Walling, Sr., may have married prior to 1820; since his older daughter, Mary Polly, was born in 1818.

5. According to the 1850 Census of Nacogdoches County, Texas, Elizabeth Walling was born in Ohio in 1799; Mary was born c1808 in Tennessee; Nancy was born c1809 in Tennessee; Sentha Ann was born c1816 in Mississippi.

6. John Walling, Sr., along with his son, James, and grandson, Vance, operated a grist mill in Milville (near Henderson), Texas from about 1837 until his death in 1841.

NOTES:

1. Berta (Cash) Walling has in her possession a photograph of the tombstones of Thomas D. and Nancy Walling. The photograph was taken by Barbara Patterson in June, 1982. Barbara said that although the stones are broken; the inscriptions are legible even today.
2. The 1850 Census shows that Thomas was born in North Carolina; however, the Wallings who are descended from James say that he was born in Montgomery County, Virginia. They have filed papers with NSDAR based upon a record of Felix G. Walling who was born in 1839. He charted a family tree which recorded this line for four generations.

Felix G. was a son of Hiram Kilgore Walling. Hiram Kilgore was a son of Daniel Walling. Daniel was a son of James, Jr. whose father was James, Sr., the Revolutionary War Seaman.

WALLING - DENTON HOUSE

One of the oldest houses in White County, Tennessee is the old Isaac Denton home which stands at the foot of Gum Spring Mountain near Doyle. The house was built by the slaves of James Walling, Sr. for his daughter, Rutha, when she married Reverend Isaac Denton. Rutha's mother was Phoebe (Jones) Walling. After Rutha's death, Isaac Denton married twice.

James Walling, Sr. gave each of his children 500 acres of land and built, for each, a brick house. The houses were somewhat similar and all were constructed with slave labor.

The Rev. Ozias Denton, a first cousin of Rev. Isaac Denton, came to White County and married Susan Walling, sister of Rutha.

The Walling Cemetery, where James and Phoebe (Jones) Walling are buried, is about one-half mile from the Walling-Denton house. The cemetery is near the site of the original James and Phoebe (Jones) Walling home.

NOTES:

1. Material for this family group was compiled by Maude (Rice) Goorabian from the notes of Mattie Rice Anderson. She, in turn, had received letters pertaining to Rice genealogy from her father, Rev. Henry Rice (1810-1862). He was of Athens and Riceville, McMinn County, Tennessee. Henry was the son of Isaac Rice, born 1776, and Martha Matlock.
2. The name of John Rice's wife is unknown; however, it is known that they had two children: Elizabeth Rice who married Alex Russell and Evan Rice. They lived in Missouri.
3. Sarah Rice returned to her family after "Little Harpe," her first husband, was killed. Sally's second marriage was to John Thompson.
4. John Isaac Rice, husband of Margery Walden, was the son of Henry and Margaret (Bradburn) Rice. Henry was born in Hanover County, Virginia, 1717. He died in 1818 at the home of his daughter, Elizabeth (Rice) Campbell in what is now Union County, Tennessee.

EVAN WALDEN AND HIS FAMILY

According to the 1850 Census, Wayne County, Kentucky, Evan Walden was born c1776 in Tennessee. His wife, Jane, was born c1785 in Tennessee. There are only a few Tennessee tax lists extant. However, Evan is on the tax lists of Anderson County: 1802, 1805; and Campbell County: 1818 and 1822.

In 1810 Evan and his family were in Knox County, Kentucky. (p. 90, 1810 Census):

(James)	1 M	10-16	1 F	26-45 (Jane)
(Evan)	1 M	26-45

*(Jesse, Brittain, David)

In 1820, Evan was probably in Campbell County, Tennessee; since he was taxed there in 1818 and 1822.

The Whitley County, Kentucky Census for 1830 shows (p. 288)

EVAN WALDEN

In the household of Evan and Jane was Samuel, a grandson of Evan and son of Mary.

By 1840, all the sons of Evan had reached maturity and left home. Only two daughters remained. The family resided in Wayne County, Kentucky. (p. 154)

NOTES

1. Polly Walden, 41, died in Wayne County, Kentucky, 27 August 1853. She was born in Campbell County, Tennessee and was the daughter of L. (or S.) and E. Smith. (KENTUCKY DEATH RECORDS) Her age on the 1850 Census must have been in error.

2. Martha G. Walden, daughter of Brittain who married, second, Lucy Ryan, was born 26 August 1854.

3. James R. Wallen, son of George and Mary Ann (Bowman) Wallen, was born in Clinton County, Kentucky 9 September 1857. (CLINTON COUNTY, KENTUCKY VITAL STATISTICS: 1853-1859)

4. Samuel Walden, a grandson of Evan and Jane, married Catherine (Katie) Adkins in 1842 in Wayne County, KENTUCKY. Katie, the daughter of Benjamin, Sr., and Catherine Stigall, was born 15 August 1820 in Wayne County, and died 26 December 1898 in Pulaski County, Kentucky. Samuel, son of Mary Walden, was born 22 June 1822 in Campbell County, Tennessee and died 30 March 1896 in Pulaski County. Katie and Samuel are buried in Pulaski County near the Wayne County border.

   After 1860 Samuel and his family moved to Whitley County, Kentucky and lived for a time with his widowed mother, Mary, who had married Ballentine Ransom Creekmore, as his second wife. (June Baldwin Burke, WAYNE COUNTY PIONEERS; Huntington Beach, CA: 1974)

From the foregoing information, it is assumed that the sons and daughters of Evan Walden were: James, Jesse, Brittain, Mary, David, George, Comfort, Clara and Helen.

The Wayne County, Kentucky Tax List - 1852 carries the following notation: "Evan Wallen moved to Indiana." Nothing more has been learned about Evan and Jane, his wife.

DESCENDANTS OF JAMES WALDING
Madison County, Kentucky

James Walding left his will in Madison County, Kentucky. It was dated 8 February 1796 and probated 5 July 1796. The following heirs were mentioned:

wife - Anne son - Benjamin daughter - Elizabeth Chisum sons - James, Jesse, William and "all my children."
Executors: William Walding,
Jno. Reed, and Joel Short.

(Julia Spencer Ardery, KENTUCKY COURT AND OTHER RECORDS, Vol. II, p. 69)

James Walding (Walden, Walling) of Pittsylvania County, Virginia had patented land in Tennessee in 1775; although no description of the land was given. Others from Pittsylvania who patented land in Tennessee in 1775 were: George Russell, Andrew Greer, Wm. Bean, Jr., Benjamin Pyburn, Christopher Shoate, James Walding (Walden, Walling); John Bean, Thomas Gresham, Richard Bennett, Elijah Robertson, brother of James, and George Gray. (Samuel Cole Williams, DAWN OF THE TENNESSEE VALLEY AND TENNESSEE HISTORY - Johnson City, TN: The Wautauga Press, 1937 - p. 435)

The marriage records of Lincoln County, Kentucky (p. 108) show: ELISHA CHISUM and ELIZABETH WALDEN - 30 January 1787.

The 1800 Tax List of Kentucky does not list any Wallen taxpayer in Madison County; however, there is WILLIAM WALLIN, SR. who paid taxes in Garrard County on 6 August 1800. (Garrard County was formed from Madison County in 1796.) Perhaps, William Wallin, Sr. was the same person who had been the administrator of his father's estate in 1796.

The BENJAMIN WALDEN family was enumerated in the Madison County, Kentucky Census of 1810. It is probable that the head of this household was the son, Benjamin, mentioned in the will of JAMES WALDING.

1810 Census - Madison County, Kentucky (p. 241)

BENJAMIN WALDEN

3 M 00-10	1 F 00-10
1 M 10-16	2 F 10-16
1 M 45 &+	1 F 16-26
	1 F 26-45

The Bible record of the Benjamin and Baalza Walden family was handed down from one generation to another and, finally, included in a family history written by Matilda (Walden) Ausmus (1887-p1938).

> "I wrote this for future generations," she said.

The manuscript is on file in the State Archives of Tennessee, Nashville.

The Bible record provides dates of birth for the children of Benjamin and Baalza Walden as follows:

WALDEN, Sarah	b. 11 Jan 1793.
WALDEN, Elizabeth	b. 7 Jul 1794.
WALDEN, Dolly	b. 20 Nov 1796.
WALDEN, James	b. 7 Jan 1788 (1798?)
WALDEN, Robert	b. 13 Jan 1800.
WALDEN, Baalza	b. 14 Jan 1802.
WALDEN, William	b. 9 Mar 1804.
WALDEN, George	b. Nov 1806.
WALDEN, John	b. Oct

In a note concerning this portion of the Bible record, Mrs. Ausmus commented, "There could have been more children; however, the record ends as written above."

From this Bible Record, it is a simple matter to name the children who were enumerated in the 1810 Census of Madison County, Kentucky:

3 M 00-10 (Robert, William, George)
1 M 10-16 (James)
1 F 00-10 (Baalza)
2 F 10-16 (Dolly, Elizabeth)
1 F 16-26 (Sarah)
1 F 26-45 (Baalza, mother)

The 1820 Census of Whitley County, Kentucky (p. 112) indicates the BENJAMIN WALDEN family had residence there by that date:

BENJAMIN WALDEN

2 M 00-10	1 F 16-26
1 M 10-16	2 F 26-45
1 M 16-18	1 F 45 &+

The names of those enumerated were:

1 M 16-18 (William)
1 M 18-26 (Robert)

Note: William Walden's date of birth (from the Bible record) was 1804; therefore, he must have been 46 years of age in 1850.

A comparison of the Bible records of Benjamin Walden with pertinent census records of Kentucky and Tennessee indicates that Benjamin, whose wife was Baalza, was the son and heir of James Walding who died in Madisonc County, Kentucky in 1796.

Campbell County, Tennessee was formed from Anderson and Claiborne Counties in 1806. Evan Wallen paid taxes in Anderson County in 1802 and 1803; in Campbell County in 1818 and 1822. At various times, he had residence in Knox, Whitley, and Wayne Counties, Kentucky and in Anderson County, Tennessee. Some of his children lived in Campbell County, Tennessee.

According to the 1850 Census, Wayne County, Kentucky, Evan Walden was born c1774 in Tennessee. This date would have been in the same time frame as that of the acquisition of Tennessee land by James Walding, father of Benjamin. The close association of Evan and Benjamin and the names of their children indicate that they must have been brothers.
